"DIDN'T SHOOT GLOVER; HIDDEN BY MRS. GLOVER"

Girl Declares She Knows Guilty Party in Laundry Tragedy, But Asserts Her Own Innocence---Concealed by Widow, She Says.

Hattie Le Blanc, the sixteen-year-old girl under arrest for the murder of Clarence F. Glover at his Waltham laundry on November 20, has cleared up two vital points in this mysterious tragedy, and stands ready to untangle another of equal importance if her story is true:

Hattie Le Blanc says:

"I did not kill Clarence F. Glover."

"I know who did kill Clarence F. Glover."

"Mrs. Lillian M. Glover put me under the bed in her house where I was found."

In her two sisters, Irene and Lillian, who were summoned from Nova Scotia last October by Mrs. Glover, Hattie told the story of her life with the Glovers and her connection with the Waltham murder. Besides the three points indicated, the two girls have told a story of their own experience with the Glover "house of mystery" that is of great significance as bearing on the murder of Glover and the Glover family affairs.

Irene Le Blanc, who is eighteen years old, through an interpreter, declared that on the evening Glover was shot she tried to get Hattie on the telephone at 6, 7 and a quarter past 7 o'clock, but the reply came back that there was no answer.

Mrs. Glover has testified that she was in her house alone at this time, her husband and Hattie having left. She said she first went to the telephone at 8:25, Irene declares that Mrs. Edward A. Walker, wife of the Mayor of Waltham, for whom she worked, made the telephone calls for her, as she could not speak English. Before this she had had no trouble in getting Hattie on the phone.

When the attention of Mrs. Walker was called to this part of Irene Le Blanc's story to-day she said:

"I did not call up the Glover house at any time on the day of the murder. I called the house on the Saturday evening before and could get no reply."

Did Not Call Hattie."

Irene asked me to call Hattie up the evening of the murder about the time she says but I did not do it because I had been led to believe from what Mrs. Glover had told me previously that Hattie would be at the dentist's at that time."

Irene said that Hattie told her that she had her supper with Dixon in the house in the kitchen on Sunday evening. That was the week evening after the murder. Mrs. Glover, Mrs. George A. Freeman and Mr. Freeman were in the house and Samuel H. Brown, the lawyer, had been there during the day.

The next evening, Monday, Irene said she went to the Glover house and that Mrs. Glover asked her on a hunch to the den and covered her with a shawl. The girl

POLICE CHARGE STRIKE MOB IN BALL PARK RIOT

PHILADELPHIA, March 10.—Rioting between strike sympathizers and the police broke out at the Philadelphia National League ball park this afternoon. Eight hundred policemen charged the crowd that was clamoring for admission to the ball park.

GREAT CROWD MARCHES ON CITY HALL

The strikers and their sympathizers then left the ball park and marched to the City Hall, 20,000 strong, with the police trying to break their ranks.

Fully 10,000 men, women and boys were crowded about the ball park by 12:30 p. m. Strikers and sympathizers marched to Broad street and Huntingdon avenue from Labor Lyceum Hall and other headquarters. Two hundred mounted police and as many more foot men tried to keep the crowds moving, but the strikers only kept walking around the block. The gates were not opened and the ball park officials said that they would not be unless Director of Public Safety Clay gave permission to hold the meeting.

Labor leaders announced at 10 o'clock to-day that at least 7,000 more men had gone on strike. No disorder was in evidence, despite the fact that the transit company had begun running cars on the surface-subway line for the first time since the strike began.

Strike Spreads to Jersey.

The sympathetic strike is spreading in New Jersey. Carpenters working in Camden and along the north shore have struck to-day to join in the sympathetic movement. The notice was issued by Secretary McDermott of the Brotherhood of Carpenters, who said that one thousand men are expected to go out in Camden and at least fifteen hundred in other places.

The action of Lodge 54, Bullitt, head of the citizens' committee, which started a legal inquiry into the city's financial government, by Mayor Reyburn's detective, McFadden, at the direction of the Mayor, was to-day declared by union leaders to be an important factor in the strike situation, because of its effect on the public attitude. Bullitt was charged with disorderly conduct. It was due to his refusal to leave the corridor outside the Mayor's office, while he was waiting to serve Reyburn with a summons to produce in court documents wanted in the investigation. Bullitt brought about

Give the Road a Chance.

Through the State strike is imminent it will not be definitely called till the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company has been given ample opportunity to accept arbitration.

The meeting of the representatives of every commercial, industrial and professional body in the city called for tomorrow by the committee of the Business Men's Association is bound upon as one of the most important features of the strike and is awaited with deep interest.

Several hundred employes of the Kolb Baking Company quit work to-day and refused to deliver any more bread. The output of this supply of this big concern is said to be badly crippled as a result. Employes of the Midvale Steel Company met secretly and organized a union. The plant has never heretofore been known as a union plant. The Midvale workers are said to be only a big part of the force will have quit work. The completion of government ships is likely to be delayed in consequence as the plant is now working on a big contract for armor plate for the government.

Battleship Work Delayed.

The big shipbuilding plant of the Cramp Company is also under the ban of observation and strikers have been working among the men employed there to bring about a strike. Within twenty-four hours the strike leaders expect to bring out members of machinists and other shopmen. Several battleships are now being built at Cramp's

$46,100,000 FOR OLD AGE PENSIONS

LONDON, March 10.—The civil service estimates for 1910-11, which were given out to-day, call for a total amount of upwards of $350,000,000, show, like the navy and army estimates, a marked increase in the national expenditures. The new chancellor's budget provide for the usual consolidated fund charges, the grand aggregate expenditure which the chancellor will have to meet will be upwards of $875,000,00, or nearly $50,000,000 in excess of last year's total. The civil service estimates include $46,100,000 for old age pensions.

WOMAN, 103, IS DEAD.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 10.—Mrs. Susan Hurlburt, aged 103, oldest woman in Eastern Pennsylvania, died to-day.

RECALL RUSSELL AS EXPERT

Dr. Augustus Gill opened and concluded part of the Democratic defense of Technology, who yesterday testified at the Russell will hearing that handwriting in an alleged memorandum to show the claimant was an impostor had been tampered with and that postmarks introduced for the same purpose were spurious, to-day repeated his testimony under a grueling cross-examination by Attorney Proctor.

The entire morning session was taken up with this examination. The hearing started before the largest crowd that has jammed the courtroom up to this time. The throngs were attracted by the expectation of more startling and dramatic incidents, like those which characterized the trial yesterday, when a sister of James D. Russell retracted her former testimony and swore positively that the claimant was not her brother as he had stated previously. The witness, Mrs. Mary Arnold, was followed by her husband, who told of a talk with the mother of James Gilbert Russell, when she got back to New York after testifying here.

Mr. Gill said he had asked Mrs. Risson if the estimates were her own. To this question he says she replied:

"I don't know whether it is or not and I don't care. I got a big roll of money for going there to testify, and that is all I care."

It was announced to-day that the trial would last ten days longer. He will will be followed by Professors Carmichael and Hamilton, handwriting experts for the claimant. Eight days will be taken up in the experimental testimony and the final two days will be reserved for the summing up arguments for both sides.

GARFIELD ON STAND TO AID BALLINGER FOE

WASHINGTON, D. C. March 10. The Congressional inquiry into the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy was resumed to-day and James R. Garfield, one of the members of the Roosevelt Cabinet under the Roosevelt, being Secretary of the Interior during that administration, was called to the stand as a witness for the Pinchot side.

Telling of his attitude toward the Alaskan coal claims, Mr. Garfield said:

Where Secretaries Differ.

"My position was, that as to future entries the Secretary of the Interior should have the right to reclassify and revalue the Alaskan coal lands and permit combinations up to four sections."

"What was the difference between your position and that of Mr. Ballinger?" asked Mr. Olmsted.

"Mr. Ballinger believed that the existing locations in Alaska should be permitted to consolidate up to four sections. As to the existing locations, I did not believe that the consolidation of this character should be allowed at the old price of $10 an acre unless they were made in good faith and for the benefit of those who made them."

"The Cunningham claims would come under Mr. Ballinger's proposed law amendment, said Mr. Garfield. He read a letter dated April 8, 1908, written him by Mr. Ballinger from Seattle after Mr. Ballinger had retired from the office of commissioner of the land office. The letter showed the friendly feeling between the two men, for it began, "My dear Jim."

Acting in Bad Faith.

In it Mr. Ballinger said he recognized that some of the locators in Alaska were not acting in good faith and were interested for speculative purposes. He was only concerned, he said, because the coming up of the coal fields would benefit the Western Coast. He advocated the passage of the Cale bill as the best to meet the situation and said the people of the West were in favor of it.

The only difference between himself and Mr. Garfield, Mr. Ballinger said he believed Mr. Garfield's advocacy of the lease system for disposing of the Alaskan coal lands.

Mr. Ballinger said he had called on the President shortly before leaving Washington and that the President had indorsed his (Ballinger's) position.

TAFT TO TALK IN NEW YORK MARCH 22

NEW YORK, March 10.—President Taft will make his third visit in two weeks to this city on March 22. The first address will be before the American Peace and Arbitration League on "Naval Armament in Its Relation to the Preservation of Peace." The second address will be at the banquet of the New York Republican County Club. On May 9 President Taft will again be in the city en route to Passaic, N. J., fifteen miles away, where he is to make a speech.

FOSS TO RUN FOR CONGRESS IN THE 14TH

Eugene N. Foss will run for Congress on the Democratic ticket against W. R. Buchanan in the Fourteenth Massachusetts district.

Mr. Foss has agreed to accept the nomination. Democratic leaders are jubilant at the decision of Mr. Foss, because they realize that it means a battle worth while to the Democratic party. This great effectiveness for the party elsewhere in the state and with a probable effect upon the politics of the country.

Mr. Foss' political principles, which will be tested late to-day, will deal with the "high cost of living" issue, the Payne-Aldrich tariff law and Canonism.

Mr. Foss accepts the nomination and for whatever effect it may have on his personal ambitions, but for the good of the cause of tariff reform upon which he has left the Republican party and ran for Lieutenant-Governor with James H. Valley last year, reducing the Republican majority to about 8,000.

Mr. Foss and the Democratic leaders believe that if the Republican party in this district is seriously reduced it will endanger the strength of public opinion on the pending national issues.

Mr. Foss himself desired the nomination of Charles S. Hamlin, and agreed to support him vigorously. But Mr. Hamlin withdrew and the committee appointed to fill the vacancy urged Mr. Foss to run, although he is not a resident of the district. Eugene N. Foss is a millionaire manufacturer.

BATEMAN, ARRESTED, TO BE BROUGHT BACK

Inspector Tyrus Walte of the Boston police department left Boston to-day to secure requisition papers necessary to bring to Boston Osmara E. Bateman of Somerville, who is charged with the larceny of $1,963.06 from the Old Colony Savings Bank. Bateman was arrested in New York and when searched about $000 and a remarkably ticket were found upon him. The ticket indicated that he was about to leave for South America. According to Inspector Walte Bateman was indicted in Boston and disappeared.

MISS FITZGERALD, WHO CHRISTENS NEW SUBMARINE

Photograph by Cusino of Exmoor, aged nine, youngest daughter of the Mayor

DAUGHTER OF MAYOR TO NAME NAVAL CRAFT

Nine-year-old Emmy Fitzgerald, the youngest daughter of the Mayor, will have the honor of christening the submarine boat Salmon at the Fore River shipyard at 11:15 o'clock Saturday morning, because of a neat exchange of courtesies between Mayor Fitzgerald and Rear Admiral Francis T. Bowles, head of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company at Quincy.

The Mayor spoke before the Quincy Board of Trade last night, and complimented Admiral Bowles very highly for his work in the upbuilding of Greater Boston industries. The Admiral responded in kind, and seeking for a further return of the compliment, to-day telephoned the Mayor asking that one of his daughters christen the next boat to be launched at the Fore River yards.

Mayor Fitzgerald's daughter Rose christened the freight steamship Bunker Hill at the Cramps' yards at Philadelphia, as it was said at City Hall to-day that little Emmy would be chosen for the next similar honors.

HEAVY GAIN IN COPPER SUPPLY

NEW YORK, March 10.—The Copper Producers' Association to-day publishes its February statement. The report shows an increase during February in accumulations in this country of 8,724,653 pounds, as follows:

Stock of marketable copper of all kinds, Feb. 28, 1910	98,165,39
Deliveries of refinable copper in the United States from all domestic and foreign sources, during February, 1910	132,732,49
Deliveries and exports of refinable copper from the United States, during February, 1910	105,987,96
Stocks of marketable copper of all kinds on hand and in all points in the United States March 1	107,187,992

VOLCANOES ADD TO REVOLUTION

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, March 10.—The "Twin Volcanoes" of Alta Gracia and Madera, each 5,000 feet high, on the Island of Ometepe in Lake Nicaragua, are in eruption. The fear of an eruption is reported to have had much to do with the dispersing of the rebel army under Chamorro, his superstitious troops taking it as an omen and deserting. The inhabitants of the lake shore are in a panic.

TO NAME DIRECTORS OF "1915" BOARD

The 2,400 and some odd shareholders in Boston 1915" will meet for the first time in Food Hall on the evening of March 17 for the purpose of electing directors to the "1915" board, to represent the different sections. James P. Munroe, executive director of Boston-1915," will preside. The work of the movement and its plans for the future will be explained by Edward A. Filene, John L. Sewall and C. Bertrand Thompson.

SEEK PROOF OF COAL LAND DEAL

CLEVELAND, March 10.—The inquiry before U. S. Commissioner William McGee into the claims of four of the thirty-three claimants to Alaska coal lands was resumed to-day. The government is endeavoring to prove that the entrants combined illegally, and that they have intended to co-operate with the Guggenheimer interests.

TWO NEW FARO GANG ACCUSERS

As a result of the startling disclosures made before the Grand Jury yesterday afternoon by George W. Coleman, the accused bookkeeper of the Cambridge National City Bank, and by Delos M. Bristol and C. L. Hatch, Grand Jury summonses have been issued for two men regarded as the most important witnesses yet secured in connection with the Boston faro gang's exploits.

The two men are Lon Davis of Winthrop and William C. Starkweather of Washington street, Providence. Davis's story, it is understood, will afford the district Attorney just the facts that he wants in order to get the gang for conspiracy. Starkweather is a note broker and his connection with the case is a mystery.

Others summoned for to-day are: Dr. George C. Ainsworth, a Boston dentist; Charles S. Beatty, a note broker; Charles E. White, 10 Grand Avenue, Cambridge; James Cushing, a clerk, and James Fraser, a constable. Ainsworth and Beatty were summoned yesterday, but there was not time to hear them. Coleman is not to be called again, it was learned, and his chum, Lockhart, who is practically eliminated, will not be a witness.

"Easy Money," the Lure.

Dr. Ainsworth talked freely of his experience with the gang. He said that he was not a victim, but that an effort to show him how "easy money" could be had was made by John Nowell of Brookline, one of his patients, and a man whose name he did not know.

Dr. Ainsworth explained that he had been summoned by the District Attorney, but had been excused when he told of having a professional engagement for the hour named. After meeting the engagement he went to the court house and told his story fully. He does not expect to be summoned again.

"Norwell talked to me while I was working upon his teeth of his good things," said Dr. Ainsworth. "He knew I was doing a small business in investments in the street, and one day he came rushing into my office and told me that a certain railroad in which I was holding stock was going to pay a dividend. I listened to

FRAUD CHARGED TO 'HARVARD' MAN

Inspectors Fitzgerald and Toone of Lynn to-day arrested Carl Westergard, aged twenty-three, who says he is an art student at Harvard, on a charge of passing worthless checks. He was arrested at the home of his mother, No. 75 Church street. He is suspected of being the person who, on February 26, defrauded two Lynn shoe dealers out of $14.45. He was taken to the store of one of the dealers, and identified by him. Westergard told the police think he is wanted in other cities for the precisely authorities say there is no such student.

ROOSEVELTS MEET IN EGYPT MONDAY

KHARTOUM, Egypt, March 10.—Theodore Roosevelt will reach Khartoum and meet Mrs. Roosevelt and their daughter next Monday, according to advices received to-day. They will remain here until Thursday. During that time they will be entertained at the palace of the Sirdar. The Khartoum party will arrive at Kodok. After taking tea with the American missionaries at Kodok Mr. Roosevelt visited the officers mess at the Fowkh garrison.

AMERICAN WOMEN SHOT IN JERUSALEM

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The State Department to-day received a telegram from Consul Wilhelm at Jerusalem, saying that two American women, who were in a party of sightseers visiting the Mosque of Omar, were shot and seriously wounded by an Arabian fanatic, who fired into the party.

The fanatic Mosque of Omar Haute, Ind., was seriously wounded, but will recover. Miss Natalie Manning of Manchester, N. Y., received a slight shot wound.

MORE OIL BRIEFS.

NINE KILLED, 25 BURIED BY FALLING WALL

PITTSBURG, March 10.—The collapse of a wall in a burned building to-day buried eleven persons, nine of whom were killed.

Within an hour after the collapse, nine bodies had been taken out of the wreckage. Four living men were taken out horribly injured. The police then said that at least ten and probably more were dead.

The wall was at the lost factors of M. Lamb & Sons, on the south side of the city. The building was burned yesterday. A large force of men was on the site cleaning it up and pulling down walls, when the one space of the big pile of bricks came with a roar that was heard for blocks.

There was no warning and the trapped men had no chance to escape.

Those without the zone of the collapsed building hurried to the aid of the rescuers, many tearing at the debris with bare hands. Within a few minutes after the collapse a fire alarm had been turned in and the entire force in a wide area were scurrying to the scene.

Hospitals were notified and a dozen ambulances hurried to the scene. The crowd swelled fast, and extra police were sent for. The scene of the disaster at Twenty-ninth and Canon streets. Lines were run about the debris that the rescuers might have space in which to operate.

CABMAN HELD FOR STABBING

In a dispute with John T. Lee, a cabman, early to-day, Frank A. Quinton, a Brooklyn manufacturer, was stabbed three times in the neck and is in a critical condition at the City Hospital. Lee is under arrest and, shipped here for President Taft to stand on during his speech in Chicago on St. Patrick's Day, had disappeared.

The fight occurred on board the St. Louis at Queenstown. Everybody on the steamship from the captain down to the cook agrees in that point, for they saw it. But what became of the precious bit of earth after that no one seemed to

TO CALL THREE LE BLANC GIRLS AS WITNESSES

Mrs. Lillian M. Glover took the witness stand for the eighth day's examination in Judge McIntyre's East Cambridge Police Court this afternoon. The courtroom was again crowded. Lawyer Samuel D. Elmore continued his friendly questioning of Mrs. Glover.

Yesterday she told about the guns and revolvers that her husband owned and identified them in court. This evidence was brought in to show that it was not necessary for her to buy a revolver, as it is charged she did, last March.

It was announced in court that the three Le Blanc sisters would be called in succession following the close of Mrs. Glover's testimony. This will be to-day or to-morrow and this afternoon Irene and Lillian Le Blanc were summoned to-day and Hattie is within reach in the East Cambridge jail.

TAFT'S IRISH SOD IS LOST!

NEW YORK, March 10.—A terrible discovery was made to-day when the steamship St. Louis arrived in port from Cherbourg, Southampton and Queenstown. It was found that a bunch of sod from Ireland, shipped here for President Taft to stand on during his speech in Chicago on St. Patrick's Day, had disappeared.

The sod was placed on board the St. Louis at Queenstown. Everybody on the steamship from the captain down to the cook agrees in that point, for they saw it. But what became of the precious bit of earth after that no one seemed to

QUICK ACTION PRESCRIPTION CURES COLDS IN A DAY

What is said to be the best and quickest prescription known to medical science for colds and coughs is as follows. "Get two ounces of Glycerine and half an ounce of Concentrated Pine compound. Then get half a pint of good whiskey and put together two ingredients into it. Take a teaspoonful to a tablespoonful of this mixture after each meal and at bed time. Shake the bottle well each time." This has cured hundreds here. Be sure to get only the genuine Concentrated Pine. Each half ounce bottle comes put up in a yellow screw-top case. Any druggist has it or will quickly get it from his wholesale house. Don't use the weaker imitations.

BROOKLYN ASKS FOR OLD SOUTH

Over in Brooklyn, N. Y., where they sleep perennially, they have discovered that there is something doing about some church in Boston. Just what is doing they don't yet know, nor have they become aware of what church it is. But Mayor Fitzgerald to-day got this illuminating telegram:

"Historic criticism is attempting to destroy Genesis, but for God's sake don't destroy faith in the Old South Church. Will Boston sell it to the school-children of Brooklyn?

"CHARLES F. SOUTHARD.

"No. 1,388 Pean street, Brooklyn."

The Mayor wrote Mr. Southard, telling him that Boston had no intention of selling Old South Church to anybody and that the Brooklyn man's anxiety doubtless arose from false reports that Edward VII, King of Great Britain and Ireland and Emperor of India, is the real landlord of Old South Church.

CAUSE OF MUCH SICKNESS

One reason so many people take cold during the Winter months, according to a well-known authority, is the hot, dry atmosphere indoors, due to imperfect heating. If we were as careful to keep the air in our rooms moist as we are to keep them warm there would be less occasion for cough medicine than is now the case.

Of all the so-called minor ills of the body, there is none the neglect of which is so liable to result seriously as the "common cold." The cough irritates the mucous membrane of the throat, lungs and bronchial organs, leaving them sore and inviting attack from the countless germs of dread tuberculosis which infect the air we breathe.

A simple, inexpensive cough medicine can be made by mixing two ounces of Glycerine, a half-ounce of Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure and eight ounces of pure Whisky. Shake well and take a teaspoonful every four hours. It will break up a cold quickly and cure any cough that is curable. This formula is frequently prescribed and is highly recommended by the Leach Chemical Co., of Cincinnati, who prepare the genuine Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure for dispensing through druggists.

FRENCH LOSE MILLIONS IN CHURCH DEALS

PARIS, March 10.—No further arrests had been made to-day in connection with the scandal developed in the discovery of a shortage of something like $2,000,000 in the accounts of M. Duez, one of the liquidators of the church properties taken over by the State.

The severe criticism of the judicial authorities for the lax control exercised over the liquidators continues, however, and the prosecuting attorney's office, especially, is being attacked sharply.

The most fantastic details of the methods employed by Duez are published. According to these, he obtained a commission of $291,000 on the sale of the Stadlas property, and gave a long lease of another property for $2,000, which lease was immediately sublet for $8,000.

Figures regarding the deterioration of the property of nonauthorized congregations and teaching orders, which ex-Premier Waldeck-Rousseau originally estimated would realize $200,000,000 for the State, are being circulated. After inventories had been made the estimated figures were reduced to $100,000,000, and subsequently to $50,000,000 when the church issued a decree of excommunication against the purchasers.

As a matter of fact, the gross receipts thus far from this property amount to only $10,000,000, of which latter sum $13,200,000 has been expended in the adjudication of claims against the property and in other costs, including attorneys' fees, expenditures and commissions to the liquidators.

FRAUD IS CHARGED TO A PATROLMAN

The Civil Service Commissioners to-day ruled that Patrolman Francis H. Bartlett of Lawrence secured his position on the police force in 1903 through fraud. They cite that they are unable to bring criminal action because of the statute of limitations. The attention of the Mayor is called to the law, which permits appointing officers to remove appointees for complicity in any fraud. The charge is that Bartlett had one John Mahoney try his examination paper under the name of Bartlett.

TINY WANDERERS FOUND.

Edward Hunt, nine years of age, and his sister Annie, who is six, who claimed that they somehow had strayed all the way from Lowell to Dedham, were to-day returned to the Harrison Avenue Home. It was found that the boy had run away from that institution. They were first found in Westwood walking on the railroad tracks.

METROPOLITAN PICKS RUSSELL FOR DIRECTOR

As exclusively announced in yesterday's AMERICAN, Henry Russell, director of the Boston Opera House, has been selected by the directors of the Metropolitan Opera House to manage the big New York institution.

Gatti-Casazza will retire from the management of the Metropolitan at the end of next season and at that time the change will be made. During the coming season Russell will become co-director with Gatti-Casazza and the Boston and New York opera houses will be under one management.

Russell will remain in Boston personally superintending the local productions next season, but the following year he will manage both houses from New York.

The great chorus, orchestra and stage management of the Boston Opera House will remain unchanged but the principal singers will be engaged to sing in Boston and New York and the great stars of the Metropolitan Opera House will come to Boston and sing with the local organization.

Mr. Russell has forced recognition in this manner from the great New York opera house because of the tremendous success of his first season in Boston.

While the Metropolitan Opera House shows a deficit of from half to three-quarters of a million and the Manhattan close to half a million the Boston Opera Company is practically self-supporting.

BE BEAUTIFUL IN SPRING—Mme. Lina Cavallieri will tell you how. Men and women can profit by her articles in the SUNDAY AMERICAN.

REWARD JOHN MACK OF THE HUB THEATRE

City and county officials occupied the boxes and hundreds of friends last night filled the body of the house in honor of the third anniversary of the management of the Hub Theatre by John Mack. Frank Gaffney of Dorchester, presented Manager Mack with a solitaire diamond ring, while Louis Bois and other theatrical men of Fall River gave him a colored glass electric chandelier.

TWO HURLED FROM A DITCH BY DYNAMITE

Two men were blown from a deep ditch and twenty-five others thrown into a panic by the explosion of a stick of dynamite today near the Lower Hill playgrounds in the Chestnut Hill district.

The injured men are Michael Delcouta and Joseph Leone. The men were employed by Joseph Driscoll & Son, contractors.

The explosion of the dynamite caused much excitement, as many windows were shattered in nearby houses.

Through negligence a piece of unexploded dynamite was left in the ditch. Delcouta and Leone went to work in the ditch to-day with picks. Delcouta struck his pick into the earth and the explosion followed.

One of Delcouta's hands was almost blown off and both of his eyes were badly injured. He was taken to the Newton Hospital. Leone was treated by Dr. Scanlon on Boylston street.

AT EIGHTY-FIVE GETS LICENSE TO MARRY

James E. Holbrook of No. 5 Summer street, Lynn, has taken out a license to marry Mrs. Susan M. Pickett, a cook residing at the same address, but refuses to say whether the license will be used next Monday, which will be his eighty-fifth birthday. Mr. Holbrook, when asked as to the date, said that his plans were of no interest to the public. Mrs. Pickett's age is stated on the license as fifty-eight.

Two Vital Things Required in Treating Skin Diseases.

In treating and curing Eczema and other well defined skin diseases, two vital things must be done. One is to exclude dust, germs and air from the diseased parts, and the other is to set up the healing process at the same time. The new medical preparation called Cadum accomplishes both these results so effectively that the itching is stopped as soon as it is applied, and the sore parts heal up in a wonderfully short time. Any one with skin trouble can test Cadum by getting a 10-cent box at any drug store, and thus personally realize the power of this new compound, which is just as effective in the cure of pimples, blotches, blackheads, eruptions, acne, herpes, scaly skin, rash, sores, chafings, etc.

SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES

NEW JOB FOR DRAPER; GOES ON ROAD SELLING BONDS FOR NEW HAVEN

Governor Draper has gone on the road, specializing for the monger legislation of selling bonds. He made his first speech last year, which, he said, was the result of his special message to the Legislature.

last night at Malden. He said he had booked sold up to the end of the legislative session.

Dr. Draper advanced some reasons why the bonds of the Holding Company should be lodged in the savings banks in preference for the money of savings banks depositors. Here are some of the former remarks:

The governor is helping Mr. Morgan and Mr. Mellen and their hired hands to get the money of the people out of Massachusetts savings banks. They want the money to use on New England railroads. They want to get the money of Massachusetts depositors the money of Maine and New Hampshire will come easy.

"It would help the New Haven to choose of the bonds if they were made a legal investment for savings banks, and to say mind that was a good thing for the New Haven, for the Boston Holding Company and for the people."

"An Excellent Investment."

Speaking before the Malden Board of Trade and 200 guests last night the Governor explained away his rambling on the bond question and remaining there throughout a half hour speech. In substance his speech was an elaboration of the recommendation in his inaugural address that the bonds of the Boston Railroad Holding Company, indorsed by the New York, New Haven & Hartford, be made legal investments for Massachusetts savings banks.

"My next reason was that it would be a most excellent investment for the savings banks. Here was an opportunity to buy bonds paying 4 per cent., which in my opinion would be a first-class investment for the savings banks, and as good probably as any bonds in their possession. Therefore, this would be a good thing for the savings banks and for the people who are the depositors in these institutions, because it would give them a safe and sure security."

In the third place it was a good thing for the people. I know of no way to exercise control so easily and profitably as to own their stock and bonds, which at once settle the whole question of local control.

The Governor read a table of figures calculated to show that since the Boston & Maine got the Boston & Maine vast improvements are being made in the Boston & Maine system such as were never known before.

"While during months, with the preparations have been made for additions and improvements to Boston & Maine property amounting to $15,380,000. For the years ending next June the Boston & Maine has appropriations for permanent improvements had totaled $17,500,000."

In explaining the merger deal, the Governor also repeated that neat little argument that the New York, New Haven people "sold" their Boston & Maine holdings to Col. J. Pierpont Morgan, "for they feared, might sell out to some foreign corporation. Hitherto it is New Haven affair, a country banker, procedurally, and just now he could buy 100,000 shares of Boston & Maine has never been fully explained.

TO-DAY'S CABLE NEWS

Up to Midnight London Time

Tchaikowsky Thanks Friends in America.

ST. PETERSBURG—Nicholas Tchaikowsky, the aged radical, acquitted on a charge of being a terrorist, to-day sent his thanks to American and American for their efforts in his behalf. The police have ordered him to leave St. Petersburg, which has to be done on opposition for people outside work. A visit to make Miss Brush Iswolsky comfortable in her exile is being raised, and large contributions are expected from America.

Mme. Steinheil in Paris.

PARIS—Mme Steinheil, who was recently acquitted of the charge of having murdered her husband and mother, is visiting in Paris. She is disguised as an elderly woman, and her visit is for the purpose of consulting her lawyer. It is stated that her daughter, Martha, has refused to receive her mother. It is said that Mme. Steinheil will make her appearance on the stage in London.

Methodists Honor Fairbanks.

LONDON—Charles Warren Fairbanks, former Vice-President, was welcomed to-day as "The most distinguished layman in the Methodist Episcopal church in the United States," by Sir Robert Perks at a luncheon in Mr. Fairbanks's honor. Many prominent Methodists attended, including the Rev. W. Perkins. The luncheon was held at the Whitehall rooms.

Flood Damage Repaired.

PARIS—Paris is forgetting the flood. Everything is now finished, communications have been re-established, business has been resumed and the life of Paris has recommenced. Paris, probably for centuries, was never cleaner than to-day, for the catastrophe has cleaned it thoroughly. Hearth statistics prove that conditions were never better.

Writer Sues Young Clews.

PARIS—The Civil Court has begun hearing the case of Professor Bernard, a Belgian writer, against Henry Clews, Jr., son of the New York banker, to recover $20,000 damages in connection with a play in French verse, "Le Fiancée des Riches," which plaintiff and defendant collaborated. The play failed.

Frau Jorn's Life in Danger.

BERLIN—Frau Karl Jorn, wife of the German opera tenor now singing in New York, is dangerously ill, the result of a surgical operation. Her physicians declare that her recovery is to a precarious condition. While motoring in the suburbs her car collided violently with a street car, and she was hurled roughly on to a stone curbing.

Barker's New Play Put On.

LONDON—Granville-Barker's new comedy, "The Madras House," was presented by Charles Frohman at his repertory theatre. It is another sex drama. If the play is to be taken seriously it is an advocacy of anti-suffragettism. It is not a play, but a debate on Shaw lines.

Americans Ordered Out.

SAN JUAN, P. R.—The House of Delegates passed a resolution calling upon the Governor to deport all Americans who are within a month the buildings belonging to the Government and used by them as residences.

Driven to Death by Comet.

BUDAPEST—Adam Toun, a land owner in the district of Szomon, committed suicide through fear of Halley's comet. He said he preferred to die by his own hand than be killed by a star.

Aeronaut Fatally Hurt.

PAU, France—Aeroplanist Loraine was injured to-day, probably fatally, when his Herlet machine crashed fifty feet to the ground. The aeroplane was shattered.

Skinners in Ceylon.

COLOMBO—Recent arrivals here include Francis Skinner and Mrs. Skinner of Boston and Mrs. Dodge and son of New York.

FIVE FAMILIES IN FIRE PANIC

THE REAL DOPE ON THAT PIE

The presence of mind of Patrolman William Nash of the 30th street station was all that prevented a panic among the five families living in the big six-story brick tenement building at No. 151 Columbus street, West End, early to-day when a fire gutted the apartments of William Kellog on the top floor, and caused considerable excitement in the neighborhood.

Nash saw flames bursting from the windows on the top floor of the building and rushed up the stairs. Mr. Kellog had been awakened by the crackling of the flames and escaped from the burning flat in safety, but her husband, who was asleep in another room near the front of the house, was hemmed in by the fire and before he had time to escape was slightly burned about the face and hands.

Nash met him as he rushed from the apartment and assisted him to the street. Other inmates of the house filing on the floors below rushed out in their night attire but when assured as Nash they were in no danger, returned to their apartments and left the stairways clear for the firemen, who had arrived by this time. An alarm from Box 295, sounded by a citizen who saw the flames from the street.

$7,000,000 READY TO PAY IN BERRY BANK RUN

CLEVELAND, O., March 10.—Despite assurances of all the newspapers, State Bank Examiner Seymour and the leading officials of other banks and leading citizens that the society for Savings is sound as a rock, the run continued on it to-day. As early as 8 o'clock fully 1,200 depositors were in line. Before 9 o'clock over 3,000 were in line. A large squad of police preserved order. Attorney General Myron T. Herrick is the president. The bank has many millions ready to pay out, and will be backed by all the other banks. It has over seven millions cash now ready to pay out. The bank has $51,000,000 on deposits.

BARE FOOT DANCE INJUNCTION ASKED

NEW YORK, March 10.—Justice Newburger of the Supreme Court has been asked to decide whether La Isle Terpsichore or any other person is entitled to a monopoly of bare feet on the stage. Miss Fuller asked the court to restrain William Morris, vaudeville manager, from presenting "La Danse Classique Symphonique" by Hans Von Bulow on the ground that she is the originator of the barefoot movement and should therefore be entitled to the exclusive use thereof, just as if she had a copyright or patent.

NEW ENGLAND'S GREAT CASH HOUSE

Our Friday Three-Hour Sales

"GOODS WELL BOUGHT ARE HALF SOLD." We buy well because we pay spot cash for all our goods and this always commands the lowest wholesale prices. As we also sell exclusively for cash and lose nothing in poor accounts, we are enabled to sell at lower prices than stores that take and give credit. Then on Friday we cut the price of everything mentioned in this bulletin, to a point materially below our regular low cash price on the same goods.

Deposit Accounts

Why not shop without cash and still have the advantage of low cash prices? This is what you can do if you start a cash deposit account at this store. Inquire of Cash Deposit Desk, Street Floor, for FULL INFORMATION.

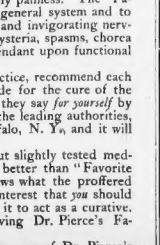
Do You Open Your Mouth



Like a young bird and gulp down whatever food or medicine may be offered you? Or, do you want to know something of the composition and character of that which you take into your stomach whether as food or medicine?

Most intelligent and sensible people now-a-days insist on knowing what they employ whether as food or as medicine.

Dr. Pierce believes they have a perfect right to INSIST upon such knowledge. So he publishes, broadcast and on each bottle-wrapper, what his medicines are made of and verifies it under oath. This he feels he can well afford to do because the more the ingredients of which his medicines are made are studied and understood the more will their superior curative virtues be appreciated.

For the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and derangements, giving rise to frequent headache, backache, dragging-down pain or distress and kindred symptoms of weakness, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a most efficient remedy. It is equally effective in giving strength to nursing mothers and in preparing the system of the expectant mother for baby's coming, thus rendering childbirth safe and comparatively painless. The "Favorite Prescription" is a most potent, strengthening tonic to the general system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. It is also a soothing and invigorating nervine and cures nervous exhaustion, nervous prostation, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, chorea or St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms attendant upon functional and organic diseases of the distinctly feminine organs.

A host of medical authorities of all the several schools of practice, recommend each of the several ingredients of which "Favorite Prescription" is made for the cure of the diseases for which it is claimed to be cure. You may read what they say for yourself by sending a postal card request for a free booklet of extracts from the leading authorities, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., and it will come to you by return post.

It's foolish and often dangerous to experiment with new or but slightly tested medicines—sometimes urged upon the afflicted as "just as good" or better than "Favorite Prescription." The dishonest dealer sometimes insists that he knows what the proffered substitute is made of, but you don't and it is decidedly for your interest that you should know what you are taking into your stomach and system expecting it to act as a curative. To him its only a difference of profit. Therefore, insist on having Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Send 31 one-cent stamps to pay cost of mailing only on a free copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages cloth-bound. Address Dr. Pierce as above him, not wishing to offend him, but I knew more about my stockholdings than he did. I didn't obtain any information from John.

NEW EVIDENCE FOUND TO PROVE CONSPIRACY IN FARO FRAUD DEALS

"Later he called and told me he was on the inside of a good thing in New York and he wanted to declare me in on it. He then explained to me that he had a friend who was dealing faro in a private club in Central park west in New York City. He said the dealer had been told by the 'Old Man,' who owned the club and the game, that he was going to take the dealer into partnership with him in the game. The dealer, he said, had been sold all Summer, and when he returned the 'Old Man' said he could not take him into the firm because he had been making some big losses during his absence.

"The dealer, Nowell's friend, obtained a peep at the books and ascertained that the 'Old Man' was losing and he was sore and had entered into a conspiracy with Nowell to rob the 'Old Man' by throwing the winnings of the game to Nowell and his friends.

"Nowell said we could only work this thing about three times between then and January 1, when Governor Hughes would never put all gambling in New York State out of business. Nowell said we could work it about three times and clean up about $50,000 each time, making $50,000 to be divided between the three of us, myself, Nowell and the professional dealer in the faro bank.

"Mr. Ainsworth said he told Nowell that he would have nothing to do with such a scheme. But Nowell persisted in broaching the subject.

FATAL FIRE IN HOME FOR POOR

NEW YORK, March 10—Twelve aged men leaped from windows and were injured and one, trapped, was burned to death early today when fire destroyed the Henry Street, L. I., poorhouse. Mrs. Carrie Sprague, wife of the superintendent and herself a nurse, risked her life to save the aged man who was killed, but he could not be rescued before he had given his last cry. Her escape was almost cut off.

In the building were Superintendent Benjamin Sprague, his wife, two other attendants and thirty-seven aged men and women inmates.

Although the flames brought aid from a wide radius, the building was consumed with a loss of $12,000 and only the efforts concentrated on saving the old men and women prevented the blazing portion—old Nick, the dead man, who was the oldest man in the house—from being the super duper, the third.

So feeble was he that he could not walk. He faced death courageously, sacrificing his slim chance of life to save the woman who went to his aid.

MELODRAMA IN REAL LIFE— Read in the SUNDAY AMERICAN of a tramp who became half millionaire in a single night.

BOY FINED $25 FOR CLIPPING A BOOK

For clipping an article from a second volume of the Scientific American in the Malden Public Library for use in a manual training, Herbert A. Fillbrown, seventeen years old, of Church street, Maplewood, was fined $25 by Judge Bruce today. Judge Bruce said that he would fine the boy enough to impress upon Fillbrown and all others the necessity of observing the rules as to the mutilation of library books and clipping articles for use in school compositions. Fillbrown said that it was his first offense and his parents paid the fine.

PAPERS READY IN BEEF PROSECUTION

NEW YORK, March 10.—Extradition papers for the Illinois Beef Trust officials and agents indicted in New Jersey for conspiracy to regulate the price of meats by the operation of the National Packing Company were prepared today by Prosecutor Garvin. As soon as Governor Fort's signature has been attached and a letter written to the Governor of Illinois, asking that that State turn over the indicted men for trial in New Jersey, Garvin will be started with the papers for Springfield.

SEAMEN HURT IN TWENTY-DAY STORM

PORTLAND, Me., March 10.—After a voyage of twenty-six days, the steamer Mallardo was badly battered and three of her crew injured, one having his leg and arm broken, the steamer Mallardo, Captain J. W. Lang, arrived here from Pensacola with a cargo of china clay for Portland and Boston ports. The twenty days the steamer lay off heavy seas, her decks being under water and the captain's cabin full of water. At one time the only way the engineers could get out was through the skylight.

INCOME TAX BILL IN N. Y. LEGISLATURE

ALBANY, N. Y., March 10.—A concurrent resolution, providing for the ratification of the 16th Income tax was introduced into the Legislature today by Senator Davenport and Assemblyman Ward and referred to the Judiciary committee. The measure, though advocated by Senator Root, is opposed by Governor Hughes.

ENGINE WHISTLE CALLS FIREMEN

LYNN, March 10.—Seeing a house on fire, Benjamin B. Cravens, engineer on the Narrow Gauge, stopped his train and summoned help by blowing the engine whistle. The house, which is located at No. 6 Harvey street court, Lynn, was saved by Cravens' work. No lawyer has engineers Cravens' qualifications whistling and hurried toward the sound. Two house belongs to Louis Millett.

LITTLE GIRL CRIES HERSELF TO DEATH

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., March 10.—Mary Andrews, five years old, died today after the death of her mother.

For twenty-four hours she grumbled over the body, crying until she died. Mother and child were buried together.

CHILD DIES BY SMOKE.

AUGUSTA, Me., March 10.—Before it was possible for firemen to reach a burning blaze which started in the house of Arthur Whitten, Mary, his seven months old child, was suffocated. The flames, which broke out around a chimney, did not reach the infant. The child had been left alone for a few minutes.

SENATOR DANIEL BEITER.

DAYTONA, Fla., March 10.—The condition of Senator Daniel is much improved after a restful night. His son-in-law will remove the Senator to Lynchburg, Va., when his condition permits.

CANADIANS IN B.A.A. MARATHON

More Canadian runners than ever will compete in the American Marathon run to be conducted by the Boston Athletic Association April 19. Secretary Walter H. Crowe of the Canadian A. A. U. has informed Crowe Y. that there seem as much interest in the American event in Toronto and other Canadian cities as this year. The best long distance pluggers in Canada have already started training.

With such good men as Corkery, Near, George, Barton and McCormick representing Canada, Secretary Crowe expects that the Maple Leaf will come home in front again, as in the days of Caffrey, Sherring and Longboat.

EDNA MAY'S SOCIAL SUCCESS —A most beautifully illustrated article in the SUNDAY AMERICAN tells how an actress has become a great lady.

$5,000 FROM WOMAN FOR SOCIALIST PARTY

HAVERHILL, March 10.—The will of Mrs. Elizabeth G. Bradley has attracted considerable attending because of its provisions. She was seventy-three years old and the widow of the late Alderman Charles H. Bradley, who was elected on the Socialist ticket. Mrs. Bradley was a Socialist. After bequeathing $1,000 to the public library at Plaistow, N. H., and $1,000 to be divided among nine relatives, she provides that the residue of her estate, estimated at about $5,000, shall be used by Mrs. Ida Crouch-Hazlett of Westwood and School Committeeman Ralph E. Gardner to advance socialism. The Rev. Mr. Littlefield is a believer in socialism.

ELIOT ATTACKS GREAT STRIKE

Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard, termed the strike conditions in Philadelphia a disgrace to the country, while talking before the committee of labor in support of the bill introduced by Robert Luce, which provides that before a strike or lockout the matter must be referred to a board of three commissioners to be appointed by the Governor.

"I submit that the condition of things in this American democracy is disgraceful," said President Eliot. "This private warfare growing out of industrial disputes is wholly unnecessary, and this bill will secure the welfare, the hours and the wages of labor.

"A corporation is not going into contest before the public when it knows it has not done right. The same might be said of an employe."

BISHOP WALSH BACK.

PORTLAND, Me., March 10.—The Right Rev. Louis S. Walsh, bishop of the Catholic diocese of Portland, has returned from his extended trip abroad, during which he visited the Pope and travelled in France, England and Ireland.

JAPAN, IN SLY GAME, PREPARED TO OPPOSE AMERICA, SAYS GRAVES

By JOHN TEMPLE GRAVES.
Editorial Correspondence of the AMERICAN.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The sensation caused by the recent utterance of Jacob Schiff, while incidentally a tribute to the influence and importance of the financier, is primarily an evidence of the general apprehension existent throughout the country over the tremendous matters of which the New York banker speaks.

Interpreting the interview with Mr. Schiff there are, of course, divergent opinions. I cannot for a moment permit myself to believe that a man of Jacob Schiff's character and standing would lend himself for any covert scheme seriously affecting his country's peace and tranquility for any mere financial plan in which he or his friends might be involved.

To thoughtful men there can be but one interpretation of the Schiff speech and that is either that Mr. Schiff was mistaken in his apprehension or that the scope and accuracy of his knowledge of Japanese affairs make his utterance tremendously important to this country.

Knox's Mismoves.

It is a striking fact that Mr. Schiff, better, perhaps, than any other American, knows the condition of Japanese finances and is better prepared than any other American to know and say that the financial condition of Japan would justify her in indulging in a policy as rich and powerful as the United States.

As in the attitude of the State Department:

It is believed here that Secretary Knox has builded with greater wisdom and diplomacy than he is given credit for by the critics of the administration.

Whatever else has been accomplished the diplomacy of our State Department has smoothed out the affairs in the delicate attitude of Russia and Japan toward the Manchurian Railway and the friendship of the United States from its share in oriental trade.

Where Japs Lead.

More than this, if has, at least by reasonable inference, given us to understand that England will maintain her constitutional attitude of seclusion and greed in commercial affairs even where the interests of the United States are vitally at stake.

So that at least our diplomacy has progressed to the point where we know our ground better than we would have known it in foreign affairs if we had continued to grope in apathy and inaction as we do in our preparation for menacing possibilities.

On the other hand comes the statement to-day that our State Department is met everywhere and foiled by the unquestioning judgment of thoughtful statesmen, from the fact that Japan, with greater wisdom and better discretion than the United States, has been foreseeing and preparing prepared for the diplomatic conditions of to-day and of eventualities to which they may lead.

Isolated From World.

Those who remember recent history will recall how in advance of her war with Russia, the consummate diplomacy of Japan succeeded in isolating Russia from the other nations of the world.

When Japan accomplished Japan was ready to go to war, and did go to war, unhesitatingly and wantonly, as history records.

Japan now, by the same astute strategy has the United States just as completely isolated as she and Russia in 1904. Step by step, with patient cunning and careful design, Japan has waited for the time, and helped it to come, when America stands in the judgment of European nations as their chief and most objectionable competitor for trade in the Orient.

Japan now has America in that position where, with the possible exception of Germany, every other nation would like to see our commercial prestige diminished and our martial power deprecated.

Ready to Play Lone Hand.

This, then, by all her precedents of policy, is the opportunity for which Japan has worked. She is ready now for America, as she was for Russia.

It is even stated that Japan has agreed with the ammunitions of Europe that she asks nothing of them but neutrality, and that she will cope with America alone, reduce American prestige and practically eliminate her from any dominant part in the Pacific ocean. Think of it.

The immediate menace is to the open door, which America must be prepared to defend by diplomacy, and, if it be necessary by force of arms, or to surrender this great commercial consideration because of its shameful unpreparedness to defend it.

Now Is Time to Act.

The immediate application of the logic of these conditions is for an aggressive movement all along the line. The battleships should be pressed to the utmost dispatch of completion—not only the two that we have voted but others should be built.

Every virile element in our statesmanship should be concentrated upon the ways and means of preparing now with energy and speed for the coming storm and for soldiers to meet what is evidently and visibly a serious threat of trouble in the East.

The time will come when the citizenship of this Republic will hold sternly responsible the apathetic and inactive statesmanship which has suffered our country to front even the possibilities of this menacing day in the state of utter and wretched unpreparedness in which their blindness and their complacent weakness have left us.

The only way to forgiveness left such statesmanship in the past is to make haste to federate the line by vigorous and immediate preparation.

"GOLDEN RULES" FOR COURTSHIP

The Rev. Eugene C. Webster at the Glendale Methodist Church, Everett, has laid down the following "golden rules" for courtship:

"Never tell the other fellow's sister as you would have the other fellow treat your sister.

"One cause of the downfall of the other fellow's sister is due to unchaperoned courtship.

"Your fellows ought to get acquainted with your father. My boy and I are like brothers.

"If more fathers were brothers to their sons there would be fewer wayward boys."

GIRL WHO SUES FOR $50,000 IN PROMISE CASE

'S ALL RIGHT, GIRLS; WEAR YOUR RATS!

Rats are safe says Commissioner Ritchie of the Boston Board of Health; so, cheer up, women and girls, buy all the rats you wish with which to dress your hair. Be assured, for Commissioner Ritchie declares you'll never catch typhus or any other noxious plague from the rats. He says that such a rat story escaped in San Francisco and run around loose for a time, but he insists that live rats are meant, not rats for your hair.

BE BEAUTIFUL IN SPRING
Mme. Lina Cavallieri will tell you how. Men and women can profit by her articles in the SUNDAY AMERICAN.

WOOD TELLS HOW HE MET GIRL WHO SUES

Miss Marion Orr of Dorchester to-day resumed the stand in the Superior Court in her breach-of-promise suit against William Wood, the electric light and street railman of Portland, from whom she asks $50,000, and her father, Charles H. Orr $10,000 additional for loss of her services and for medical attention.

Baby Catherine Isabelle, two and one-half years of age, blue-eyed, golden-haired, the image of her pretty young mother, and alleged to be Wood's child, toddled in the front of the court room and gave full before the jurymen by Attorney J. P. Leahy. So overcome was Miss Orr that she wept.

Not a word was uttered. Then Orr was cross-examined by Attorney H. V. Cunningham. He tried to show from letters that she had made appointments with Wood to meet him in Boston.

Tells of Promist to Wed.

Attorney Leahy questioned his client, and she told about Wood telling her that he was about to make a trip to Europe. She said that for some reason he gave him up. She said she had asked him to get her an engagement ring, but that he said he didn't like rings. She said she was introduced to Wood in July, 1906, by a Mr. Berrigan.

Her father was the next witness. He is from in the insurance business in Seattle. He said that he first met Wood in the Fall of 1906. He said that when his daughter became sick Wood said that he intended to marry her. He said that after that last he didn't see Wood again until after the suit was brought.

The mother of the girl corroborated his testimony. When she stepped down from the stand her daughter threw her arms about her neck and the mother and daughter wept as each other's shoulders.

Wood Tells of Meeting.

Wood testified that his wealth amounted to not more than $20,000. He said that he first met Miss Orr at Tremont and Boylston streets in 1906, and that after that had smoked back and smiled upon him as she passed in company with another woman. He said at that time he didn't know who she was.

He said he caught up with her and asked her to eat dinner with him that night, and that she had promised, but didn't keep the engagement. He met her again on the street, he said, and again tried to get her to go with him, but said she refused on the ground that he mother was expecting her home.

SEARCH CITY FOR BAND OF COIN MAKERS

A search is being made throughout Greater Boston to-day by the Federal authorities together with the police of this city, in an effort to unearth traces of the gang of counterfeiters who are thought to be operating in this city.

The hunt, it is claimed, were manufacturing the spurious coins under the very noses of the police and it was only by the merest chance their operations were discovered. Several workmen employed in sorting over an old three story brick building at the corner of Market and Hanover streets, North End, found a cutting plate only used by expert counterfeiters and fifty of the dual half dollars in the ruins.

The police of the Hanover street station, who were immediately notified of the find, notified the Federal authorities and the search for the counterfeiters was begun.

William Semple, forty-one, and Frederick Harsing, thirty, two of the three men who were arrested by United States Secret Service men, charged with counterfeiting, are confined in the Charles street jail to-day. Each is held under $10,000 bail. Edward E. Semple, brother of William, is ill at his home at No. 27 Spencer street, Dorchester, guarded by secret service men.

He will be arraigned before United States Commissioner William Hayes, 2d, as soon as his condition permits, on the same charge as the others.

Although sick in bed, he startled United States Deputy Marshall Young, who had been engaged in shadowing him, by saying, "How easy it would be for me to throw you out of the window," and pulling later, "How easy it would be for me to pop you with a revolver if I took the notion."

Interpreted these statements to Deputy Prosecutor of New York when the officer reflected Young. Semple at the same time made a motion as if to produce a revolver from under the bedclothes. Prosecutor drew his revolver and commanded Semple to stop. A search was then made of the bed and the room, but no trace of a weapon was found. As a result of these demonstrations Semple's trial will be hurried as fast as possible.

Harsing appeared very buoyant at the hearing before the commissioner, a circumstance supposed to be due to the visit to the marshal's office of a Mrs. Davidson of Saratoga and who was accompanied by a man named J. J. Tracy.

CANADIANS KILL DREADNOUGHT PLAN

OTTAWA, Ont., March 10.—The Canadian House has enacted a decision on the naval measure, to be proposal of the Conservative leaders to present two dreadnoughts to England being defeated by a majority of 55. The vote on the main motion of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, for a Canadian navy, was postponed until to-night.

SPLENDID SONG FROM "Bright Eyes" free with the SUNDAY AMERICAN.

MOTHER BEGS MISSING SON TO COME BACK

"Come home, my son. You are breaking your mother's heart. Come home and all will be forgiven."

This is the message that Mrs. D. M. Fraser, of No. 22 Harvest street asks the BOSTON AMERICAN to deliver to her son, Stephen J. Fraser, who has been missing from his home for three months but who is believed to be in Boston. Fraser is twenty-one years old and his mother says she knows of no reason for his absence.

PAINS IN BACK

If any of your family in this or past generations have been troubled with kidney disease make a test of your urine and satisfy yourself. A sample bottle of the world's greatest kidney cure, Warner's Safe Cure, sent absolutely free to every reader of the Boston Daily American who writes.

WARNER'S SAFE CURE

For Kidneys, Liver, Bladder and Blood

Mr. A. H. Blair had to give up his work because of extreme suffering, but now he is well and strong and never feels a pain or ache. Read what he says: "About May 1st of last year I wrote you for a sample of your valuable remedy as I was suffering terribly with kidney trouble, brought on by exposure to all kinds of weather having been employed out of doors for ten years. I commenced taking Warner's Safe Cure some time in May, and after taking eleven bottles I found myself entirely free of kidney trouble, and I am now working at my old occupation and never have a pain or ache in back or kidneys any more." Mr. A. H. Blair, 3159 Wallace St., Chicago, Ill.

When the kidneys are diseased the uric acid is not thrown off, and this causes Rheumatism, Backache, Gout and Bright's Disease. Warner's Safe Cure drives out the uric acid and prevents and cures all forms of kidney disease. It is purely vegetable and contains no harmful drugs. It will not overstimulate; it is a most valuable and effective tonic; it is a stimulant to digestion and gives life to the torpid liver. It repairs the tissues, soothes inflammation and irritation, stimulates the entire vital organs and builds at the same time. It is put up in 50c. and $1.00 sizes and sold by druggists everywhere.

Constipation and Biliousness

Warner's Safe Pills, purely vegetable, absolutely harmless, from injurious substances, a perfect laxative, will cure Indigestion, Biliousness, Torpid Liver and Constipation. They do not grip or leave any bad after effects. 25 cents a box.

Sample Bottle and Box of Pills Free To convince every sufferer from disease of the kidneys, liver, bladder and blood that WARNER'S SAFE CURE will absolutely cure them, a sample bottle and also a sample box of Warner's Safe Pills will be sent FREE OF CHARGE, postpaid, to anyone who will write WARNER'S SAFE CURE CO., Rochester, N. Y. and mention have seen this liberal offer in the Boston Daily American.

"I'M INNOCENT," CRIES LE BLANC GIRL

was crying. She heard laughter and looking up saw Mr. Elmore, Mrs. Glover and Mrs. Freeman laughing. Then Mrs. Glover took the girl into the kitchen and gave her something to eat.

Irene declares that Mrs. Glover told her that she had phoned on the evening of the tragedy for Mrs. Freeman, asking the wife to "go slowly" and that that was the reason it "could not get Hattie on the telephone," but yesterday Irene said that Mrs. Glover told her that her husband died in the arms of a doctor in her presence.

Mrs. Glover is refused to go up stairs to see her dying husband at the hospital and Dr. Conseta, although respectfully asked to do so.

Remarkable Story by Girl.

Hattie's sister also says that Mrs. Glover telephoned to Mrs. Walker not to allow her to attend church, but to keep her at home, as she was keeping Hattie at home.

Mrs. Glover says that she sent Hattie to church every Sunday, giving her the money for the collection.

The girl denies that Mrs. Glover ever wrote to first husband to take Hattie away.

This is the remarkable story told by Irene, which Hattie herself has not denied or denied.

"People are pained, honest, disbelief. My father has lived by honest toil and we girls were brought up with respect for truth and religion. We do not have to earn our livelihood by working, and this is what Mrs. Glover told us we would find when we got here.

"Our family knew Mrs. Glover's people well. Her father used to fish in a dory, and they had a small estate worth about $2500. They seemed to be plain people like our folks. A few summers ago Mrs. Glover came to Ardmore where we lived. She bought a few things for the girls, and it was through her that my mother let Hattie come here. Mrs. Glover wrote to my mother to send Hattie home, and the only trouble we ever knew of was when Mrs. Glover wrote her that Hattie had stolen $50 and $10, and when Mrs. Glover sent the $25 to bring her up here she told us not to ask Hattie about this matter.

"When we arrived at Mrs. Glover's house Irene went to work, for we stayed that night and the next day I went to work for Mrs. Walker. Lillian went to work the following Saturday. While we were at the house it was kept a secret from Mr. Glover.

Told Not Hattie's Sisters.

"We were there the Sunday night before Mr. Glover was killed, having supped with Mrs. Glover in the kitchen. Mr. Glover came in and asked us if we were sisters of Hattie and she told us in French to tell him 'no,' but to say we were cousins.

"One of the first things I did was to tell Mrs. Glover I was going to ask Hattie about the $50 and $10 she had written mother Hattie had stolen. Mrs. Glover said 'no,' that Hattie had only taken five cents, and if she wrote she had stolen any other money she must have been out of her mind.

"We had always been to church and I wanted to go to church when I got there. I found out that while Mrs. Glover pretended that she wanted me to go afternoon church she had telephoned to the woman across the street to let me go. A nurse who was at the house, a French nurse, told me that Hattie had only taken five cents, and Mrs. Glover had telephoned Mrs. Walker not to let me go to church, to keep me at house as she was keeping Hattie home.

Hid Lillian Away.

"Every time Mrs. Glover came to the house while Lillian was in the house during the four days Lillian was there, when Mr. Glover came into the house she would take Lillian and put her in Hattie's room and lock the door.

"Everything appeared pleasant between Mrs. Glover and Hattie. Mrs. Glover and Hattie called on me the Friday after the Wednesday I arrived. My sister and myself had days off and we used to call on each other. We always wondered why Mrs. Glover should treat Mr. Glover the way she did, as he was always polite and pleasant and agreeable.

"Mr. Glover was big but a few times there, but never heard him say anything bad or cross to any of us. Mrs. Glover used my face. I told her a while with my irons to make fun at him while his back was turned, putting her finger up to be near that night and the next day I went and once when he was singing she said in French, 'Listen to that d—— fool singing.'

Insult on Candy Box.

"One day there was a box of candy there. I picked it up and looked at the picture and asked her what it was. Mrs. Glover said it was a box of candy that Mr. Glover had given her. There was some writing on it. I did not know what the writing was, as it was not French, but Mrs. Glover told me she had written on it, 'Me to Be——.' They were notes she put under his plate.

"I can read French, but she said they read, 'I don't care for you; I can live alone; I don't feel you'll go to——.'

"Mrs. Glover had a bottle of wine Mr. Glover had bought for her one day, and made before my sister a nasty remark I would not repeat.

"I tried to get Hattie on the telephone on Friday and on Saturday. The night Mr. Glover was killed, but could not reach her. I was accustomed to talk with her over the telephone. I tried to get her at six, seven and quarter past seven Saturday night, but she never came back that they did not answer. Mrs. Walker called me up for me.

Feared to Go In.

On Sunday," the next day, Lillian and I went to Mrs. Glover's and we saw her in the window and went to the door, but were told she was not in. Monday morning I saw my sister Lillian and we agreed not to go to Mrs. Glover's because we were afraid of her. I walked down by the house that Monday morning with Mr. Elmore and took me by the arm and chased me out. When I was reminded that I brought me in. When I was reminded done Mrs. Glover stood at the head of the stairs and told me to come up. I went up, Mrs. Freeman was there with Mrs. Glover.

"I was crying, and Mrs. Glover told me not to cry, for she was not crying, and told me to lay down on the couch which was in the room where the telephone was. I think they call it the den. She put a shawl over me and rubbed her hands on my face. I laid for a while with my irons

Hattie Not Far Off.

"When I was crying Mrs. Glover told me not to cry, for Hattie was not far off. Mrs. Glover told me that if Hattie killed Mr. Glover he was all right, and if someone else killed him it was better still, that she had nothing to worry about, and was free. If Hattie is dead I will pay her funeral expenses, for if she isn't dead now she won't be long alive.

"We asked her if we would go to mourning if Hattie was dead, and she said she had some clothes that would make over for us and told us that I and my sister might live with her.

"I went into the spare room off the hall way where there was a bed in it.

"This was Monday afternoon after Glover was shot. The curtains were drawn, and as I lifted one up I heard a noise as though someone was creeping their feet. I thought it was someone in the hallway. I dropped on the floor a postal card.

"Later, when I went to see Hattie at the jail, she said she was under the bed and Mrs. Glover put her there. She said she saw this postal card and a person. She said that she knows it was I she would have spoken." (Hattie was found under the bed the next day about 7 o'clock in the evening.)

Ate With the Others.

"I asked Hattie how she got food, and she said that she had her supper Sunday night with them in the kitchen, and that she got all the food she wanted."

"Mrs. Glover told me that she was telephoning Mrs. Freeman from 7 o'clock until 9 Saturday night, and that she had no success. I stopped talking when the hospital called her up and she said: 'I went right to the hospital and saw Dr. ——, the room where my husband was dying and he died in the arms of a doctor in my presence. She stood at the door, but did not go into the room because she could not bear to be too near him.

Wouldn't Let Hattie Return.

"Hattie told me just before Mr. Glover's death that she was going back to Arichat; because I told her that she could not go alone she said that a man named Miller, a relative of ours, was going down East and she was going with him and had packed her things to go. I told this to Mrs. Glover and she said that she was not going to let Hattie go."

ARTIST HELPS BOY WHO STOLE BOOKS

NEW YORK, March 10.—Dan Beard, the artist, writer and naturalist, entertained a "bad boy," who is under probation on a charge of stealing books in his home at Flushing, L. I., and turned him loose not only with a promise to be a good boy in the future, but fired with the desire to be a great naturalist as well. Mr. Beard will keep an eye on him hereafter, he says. The boy is Max Horn. He is thirteen years old, and lives at No. 194 Union Hall street, Jamaica. He was up before Magistrate Pitch accused of taking some books from the public library. The books dealt with outdoor life. One of them was written by Mr. Beard. The artist became interested and volunteered to act as probation officer.

MAYOR ARGUES FOR TRUNK LINE BILL

Mayor Fitzgerald argued before the Committee on Railroads to-day in favor of a bill to permit the New Haven to control the Boston & Maine with Buffalo. He criticised Boston bankers, as he did in his campaign, for investing their money outside of New England. He said that Boston was hurt by the diversion of western business to New York because of the lack of railroad competition.

COVENT GARDEN OPERA FOR THE U. S.

LONDON, March 10.—Thomas Beecham and Thomas Quinlan will shortly extend their operatic activities to include all of the English-speaking countries. The idea is to give a season of opera annually in America, Australia and South Africa. It is proposed to transplant the company at present performing in Covent Garden to America and to produce the most successful of the various grand and light operas.

HURT AT STATION, SUES FOR $25,000

Mafaret Goodwin of Stoneham filed a suit to-day at the East Cambridge Court against the New Haven road asking for $25,000 for injuries received last August at the South station, when the brakes of an excursion train refused to work and the train smashed through the bumpers and into a crowd of excursionists.

DISCUSS COLLEGE THEMES.

"College Units and Measurements and Standards of Efficiency" will be the theme of Clarence F. Birdseye of New York before the Twentieth Century Club on Saturday afternoon. John Alden Adams, president of the Student Council of Tufts College, will give a descriptive address on "Student Self-Government."

FOUR POWERS PLAY FOR VAST STAKE IN EAST

LONDON, March 10.—The maintenance of the open door policy in China and the preservation of America's trade, present and future, in the vast markets of the Far East, are the stakes of a diplomatic game which to-day is agitating the state and foreign offices of four world powers—Japan, Russia, England and the United States.

America is playing a lone hand against a powerful combination for the greatest commercial prize that has ever hung in the balance. Great Britain, ally of Japan, and Asiatic commerce, would wrest from her her vaunted supremacy on the seas.

One solution of the attempt of Secretary Knox to secure the neutralization of the Manchurian railroads, owned by Russia and Japan, from exclusive state control, ship in a far better light than previously seen before. The effort is current here that Knox, by an astute move, has forced the hand of his opponents, compelling them to come into the open.

It is now understood that Great Britain alone was responsible for the failure of American capital to secure its share in the Hankow railroad, the Chinese loan, which dragged along recently for several months. England, moreover, was the chief opponent among the nine vitally interested powers in general to the acceptance of the neutralization scheme. England is leaving no stone unturned in an effort to stay credit America in the eyes of the world. Representatives of four powers are here to London to-day, striving to work out a solution of the situation, each to be to the best advantage of its country.

The interests chiefly interested in this struggle are the New York firms of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., J. P. Morgan & Co., the National City Bank and the First National Bank, as agent of the Morgan interests. Edward C. Grenfell, who was recently in London in regard to the Hankow loan, is now in Washington reporting to the State Department and President Taft.

MYERS OPPOSES FEDERAL TAX

James J. Myers of Cambridge, former Speaker of the House and counsel for in the present case appointed to a Federal income tax, argued before the Committee on Federal Relations to-day against the ratification of the amendment by the Legislature. Mr. Myers was heard in executive session.

Mr. Myers said:

"I appear simply as a citizen and lawyer, and represent no interest. I am not opposed to an income tax; it is one of the fairest ways of producing revenue, but I am opposed to an amendment to the Constitution giving the Federal Government the right to levy this tax.

"In the present year the Government is to raise $1,000,000,000 for national purposes. This means over $10 per capital for every man, woman and child in the United States. Massachusetts needs this income.

"The State raises in taxation over $17,000,000, almost $2,000,000 of which is derived from fees, leaving $10,000,000 to be raised by direct taxation. The State government gets only one-eighth as much as the national government, and the people of Massachusetts pay less than $3 per head sent into the State. The Federal expenditure is increased until it is now over twenty times as much as it was a few years ago."

ROCKEFELLER FUNDS WOULD ESCAPE TAX

NEW YORK, March 10.—When John D. Rockefeller announced a week ago his plan to devote his fortune to the good of mankind, Standard Oil stock was selling at 625 a share. Since then the stock has been steadily rising, going to $660, a total advance in a week of $42 a share. The reason for this extraordinary advance was not generally understood until George W. DuChalu, an architect, of Upper Montclair, N. J., called attention to it in a circular letter addressed to United States Senators. Mr. DuChalu argues that if the bill granting a federal charter to the Rockefeller foundation passes neither the stock nor the United States can collect the collateral inheritance tax.

MISERY FROM A BAD STOMACH AND DYSPEPSIA WILL VANISH.

Take your sour, out-of-order stomach—or maybe you call it Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Gastritis or Catarrh of Stomach; it doesn't matter—take your stomach trouble right with you to your Pharmacist and ask him to open a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and let you eat one 22-grain Triangule and see if within five minutes there is left any trace of your former misery.

The correct name for your trouble is Food Fermentation—food souring; the Digestive organs become weak; there is lack of gastric juice; your food is only half digested, and you become affected with loss of appetite, pressure and fullness after eating, vomiting, nausea, heartburn, griping in bowels, tenderness in the pit of stomach, bad taste in mouth, constipation, pain in limbs, sleeplessness, belching of gas, biliousness, sick headache, nervousness, dizziness or many other similar symptoms.

If your appetite is fickle, and nothing tempts you, or you belch gas or if you feel bloated after eating, or your food lies like a lump of lead on your stomach you can make up your mind that at the bottom of all this there is but one cause—fermentation of undigested food.

Prove to yourself in five minutes that your stomach is as good as any that there is nothing really wrong. Stop this fermentation and begin eating what you want without fear of discomfort or misery.

Almost instant relief is waiting for you. It is merely a matter of how soon you take a little Diapepsin.

NINE MONTHS FOR 3 MEN IN 3 MINUTES

Frank J. Anery broke some fighting records when he whipped three men in three minutes. It was sentenced today to nine months in the House of Correction for the feat by Judge Fallon in the South Boston Police Court. Anery lives at No. 50 Middle street, South Boston, and is twenty-four years old. His nine months sentence was given on the following Sunday and battery on Patrolman John J. O'Brien, six months; assault and battery on Bartenders Frank Kirchgessner and James Moran one month each, and drunkenness, one month. Anery appealed and was held in $800 for the Superior Court.

MAYOR WON'T RETIRE AGED WATER MEN

Mayor Fitzgerald has vetoed Water Commissioner Hannan's plan to retire on half pay certain superannuated employes of the Water Department, force on half pay. He says that their services must stay on the payroll till the Legislature provides an adequate system of pension relief. The feature of the veto message is the Mayor's objects is that while would require those to report for duty and perform such work as they are able. This, he says, would mean the employment of men by the city for a trifle over $1 a day.

PICTURES TO SHOW HAVOC IN FORESTS

The New England Women's Press Association has pledged itself to aid in the work of forest conservation, particularly as affecting New England. Under their auspices a free lecture, "New Proposed National Forest Reserve in the White Mountains and Southern Appalachians," by Philip W. Ayres, State Forester of New Hampshire, will be given in the Public Library, Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The lecture will be illustrated with views showing the havoc being wrought in the forests.

PROMINENT MEN BAIL E. W. HALL

Edward W. Hall, the postal clerk of Peabody, who was arraigned before Deputy Marshal Young and charged with embezzling letters, waived examination before U. S. Commissioner Hayes today and was released under $1,000 bail. Bail was furnished by prominent Peabody friends. Hall is well connected and was married into one of the wealthiest of Peabody families. He received $900 a year, but lived beyond his income. Hall told Young that the letters were in his coat.

SALEM WILDER, AGED AUTHOR, DEAD

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., March 10.—Salem Wilder, author and magazine writer, is dead here, aged eighty-eight years. He came South ten years ago on account of his health. His body was taken to Winchester, Mass., his native place.

FIREMEN MUTINY ON DREADNOUGHT

NORFOLK, Va., March 10.—Mutiny has broken out on the Brazilian dreadnought Minas Geraes, one of the world's largest fighting vessels. Fifty English firemen refused orders today, asserting that they had been denied liberty and that their food was bad and their clothes were unfit to wear. The firemen were shipped in England, where the vessel was built. The Minas Geraes came here to take to Brazil the body of Ambassador Nabuco, who died in Washington.

GIRL SAVES LIFE OF WOULD-BE SUICIDE

Jeremiah Murphy, twenty-five, of No. 181 Elm street is now in a serious condition at the Cambridge Relief Hospital following an attempt to cut his throat with a razor. Murphy would have died no doubt but for a young sister, who rushed into his room when she heard him fall. She found a towel about his neck and stanched the blood flow.

"NO VOTE, NO TAX," ILLINOIS SLOGAN

CHICAGO, March 10.—A constitutional amendment exempting women from taxation in Illinois shall soon make its first appearance in the form of a petition formulated at a meeting of the league of non-persession taxpayers, otherwise known as the "No Vote, No Tax League," at the meeting of that organization next Saturday.

PLOUFFE MAKING SHOES IN PRISON

Raymond Plouffe of Harvard, sentenced to life imprisonment at Charlestown for murder of the Henry N. Stone, has been set at work on shoes at the prison. Since his incarceration he has been visited at the prisons by John M. Maloney of Avon, one of the attorneys who defended him at the trial, and David F. O'Connell of Worcester, who was his senior counsel, plans to pay him a visit at an early date.

200 TRIBESMEN FALL FIGHTING FRENCH

TANGIER, March 10.—News of a terrific battle between a handful of French troops and 800 Zeir tribesmen reached here today. The native forces lost 200 killed and wounded, it is reported, but the French had no casualties. The tribesmen attacked the advance posts of General Moinier north of the Shawia frontier, but were repulsed.

TO-DAY'S STOCK MARKETS

STATE ST. NEWS FOR INVESTORS

Strength and activity are the characteristics of the market now and there is every evidence that those will continue. Occasional setbacks are not only looked for, but most ardently to be desired.

It has become known that not long ago some of the most important speculative interests in the Street borrowed several millions of dollars more than the limit taken on, to be more accurate, about the end of January. These funds were put in stocks early in February.

The upward movement in the stock market is a systematic one, in control of the larger interests in the Street, and in the opinion of those who have watched the situation closely the bull campaign has but more than fairly begun.

Market action now is relieving with considerable accuracy the decidedly cheerful feeling prevalent in the financial district. Anxiety as to what may be done at Washington has been almost entirely eliminated, and even the Japan war scare has been allowed to pass unnoticed.

Altogether it looks as if the largeness of New York Central's directorate had provided the final touches for a sizable bull movement and had overcome the possible scruples of investors in taking what with ease had been discussed as a premature step.

The action of the railroad managers in filling their cars full of freight and sending them out by dragging them around the country from place to place is being severely criticised by the best part. In fact the fears are so disguised with the situation that they have deserted the market in large numbers, refusing absolutely to stay short of stocks when business men insisted on acting in such an unconservative manner.

Railroad equipment stocks showed a strength that confirms recent reports of big orders soon to be made public. In addition to all other equipment and rail orders announced by the Harriman lines, these roads are preparing to get bids on new rolling stock to cost about $25,000,000. The Lehigh Valley has been very hard on freight cars and all the car equipment companies are being flooded with new orders. The American Car and Foundry Company never got so many orders in its history at this time of the year as it is now receiving.

Southern Railway is sharing the increased prosperity of the country it serves, and the Louisville & Nashville, Atlantic Coast Line, Seaboard and other roads in the southeastern part of the country, is showing uniform improvement over the 1909 gains a year ago.

Rock Island directors have decided officially that some time this month they will make announcement of the five per cent. dividend on the preferred stock.

Reports from the Lake Superior region indicate another struggle there with the Western Federation of Miners. If that camp is closed the supply of copper metal would be still further reduced, and it is suggested from Butte that the Amalgamated may take advantage of the situation to have a finish fight with the Western Federation in its camp also. The engineers at Butte are at loggerheads with the Federation, and copper men seem to think that the psychological moment has arrived for settling grievances of long standing.

Strength of Nevada Consolidated the past few days has been a mystery, because it is selling higher than it ought at the ratio of 2¼ shares of Nevada Consolidated for one of Utah. The stock of 824,000 shares of Nevada Consolidated was taken from a trust company in a process of exchange, and the exact number of shares traded will be disclosed shortly through the Stock Exchange listing. But the mystery of Nevada Consolidated's price lies in the fact that a shrewd operator of world-wide fame has entered the situation and is supposed to be accumulating Nevada Consolidated non-assessing stock with the intention of making an independent deal on behalf of the company when the big copper merger is put together.

Aside from the sale of 2,700 shares of Boston & Lowell Railroad stock by auction yesterday the advance of $125 in the price of Old Colony Trust shares attracted attention. Five sold at $250@258.

Amalgamated Copper Company's $155,000,000 capital stock has been transferred from the unlisted to the listed department of the New York Stock Exchange. The Amalgamated Company owns just one-half of the 1,200,000 shares of Anaconda Copper stock and over one half of the Parrot's 229,850 shares. The other corps, 100,000 shares of Greene-Cananea and 50,000 shares of Butte Coalition. The company had in hand, on December 31 last, the total of $14,340,000.

The Federal Trust Company will act as transfer agents in Boston for the South Quincy Land Company. H. H. Scheffels & Co. who are bringing out South Quincy, report large advance reservations for the stock. Several Boston Stock Exchange houses have entered subscriptions for their customers in advance of the advertised opening of the subscription books.

The volume of business of the United Shoe Machinery Company for the fiscal year ending February 28 last was 12 per cent. greater than for any previous year in the company's history.

$60,000 PITTSBURG FIRE.

PITTSBURG, March 10.—Fire caused by crossed electric wires destroyed the storage battery department of the Westinghouse Machine Company's plant at East Pittsburg, causing a loss of $60,000.

PROFIT-TAKING IN STATE STREET

STATE STREET, March 10.—There was some hesitancy at the opening in Wall Street this morning and for the first hour the market was somewhat irregular, although there were some strong spots. As on yesterday, there were unmistakable signs of profit-taking.

The fact that yesterday's market showed susceptibility to the one item of adverse news, the threatened State-wide strike in Pennsylvania, may be attributed more to the fact that a reaction was due upon technical grounds rather than to any particular uneasiness felt on that account. It is possible that disturbances in the world of labor will be a source of considerable further misgivings, but this is a matter which has long been prepared for by suspended taking.

The Pacific stocks became active in the second hour's trading when completed a flyer here to-day and Southern Pacific the rose one and 2 points and Union Pacific lacked but a fraction of a point of the high, and Frisco 2d preferred jumped up 1½ points.

The unfolding of the Amalgamated Company secrets which were supplied the New York Stock Exchange in the transferring of the stock from the unlisted to the listed department, had no material effect on the price of the shares this forenoon, although the price advanced a point. The company's interest in the Greene-Cananea Copper Company was fully and early known.

Copper shares in the local market did not do much and acted groggy, awaiting the report of the Copper Producers' Association. There was an upward movement in Miss Mining a point, Indiana and Lake were up, Utah Brier stiffened fractionally.

The selling of the Copper Producers' showing increase of over 5,000,000 pounds in the visible supply of copper for February came in the form of a decrease of from 4,000,000 to 6,000,000 pounds had been figured upon.

O'MEARA WARS ON BILL AIMED AT CITY EVILS

Police Commissioner O'Meara, upon whom interest in this city is centring as being largely responsible for conditions here that are attracting the attention of the nation, went to the State House and fought the "white slave" bill before the Committee on Judiciary—a bill that is aimed to make social conditions better in Boston and has nothing whatever to do with the police department.

"The Police Commissioner gave his testimony in private session," the Boston Post says today, "because of the request on his part to avoid sensationalism."

One of those barred from the session remarked:

"I wonder what the sensational things about the white slave traffic are that O'Meara knows and wishes to keep secret. Through the Watch and Ward Society, the pulpit, the newspapers and the magazines the people are pretty well posted as to conditions here."

Mr. O'Meara told the committee, it was said later, that there was need of a bill to check the social evil in this city, but he did not believe the bill should be as drastic as the one proposed.

A friend of O'Meara's at one time was taken up with an attack upon J. Frank Chase, secretary of the Watch and Ward Society. He said about Mr. Chase:

"He has done more to defame Boston than anything else, making the city look like a city of impurity."

It declared that the so-called "high class" resorts of evil had been put out of business and that Chase's list of other places could no longer be correct, because the occupants were so frequently that it would have to be revised weekly.

The report of Chase is now moving about into all sections of the city, including fine residence districts, that the Rev. Herbert S. Johnson, pastor of the Warren Avenue Baptist Church and a social worker of large experience, favors the segregation of such places.

One of the members of the committee that heard the police commissioner said:

"His talk was evasive and beside the actual point at issue."

HOUNDS TRAIL MISSING GIRL

LAKEWOOD, N. J., March 10.—After an all night hunt, bloodhounds to-day tracked Miss Helen Bloodgood, a wealthy New York girl who escaped from two nurses who were attending her in the home of Leslie Carl, son of Governor Fort of New Jersey, here, to the home of George Gould on Seventh street. At the Gould home the dogs lost the scent and were unable to pick it up again. Chief of Police Norcross, who was directing the search, when told that the girl when last seen was heading in the direction of Columbia lake, said he feared she would never be found alive.

Parties in automobiles and on foot, made up of practically all the members of the Winter colonists, scoured the country all night long in the hunt for the missing girl.

Miss Bloodgood escaped from a second-story window. She had fled into the darkness before her absence was noticed.

The girl, whose mental condition had been giving her family much anxiety, has been staying in the Fort home under treatment for several weeks, while her father and mother have been living at the Hotel Breslin in New York.

HOW TO LIVE LONG AND keep your health and happiness. Two experts will give invaluable advice to readers of the SUNDAY AMERICAN.

PRIMA DONNA IS FOUND UNCONSCIOUS

Broken in health brought on by hard work, Mme. Mathilde Lewicka, one of the soprano singers of the Boston Opera company, is at a private hospital under the care of a specialist. The prima donna was picked up unconscious on the sidewalk outside the opera house yesterday by Dr. Chester Russell and medical aid was given.

Mme. Lewicka has sung many of the second soprano roles at the Opera House, making a most favorable impression. She appeared in "Carmen" as Michaela. She has appeared several times during the season, and had grown greatly in favor in the company.

PAULHAN TO FLY IN SPITE OF SUIT

NEW YORK, March 10.—Louis Paulhan, the French aviator, is busy getting his aeroplane in shape for a flight to-morrow. Paulhan and his manager, Edward Cleary, are planning the flight while awaiting a reduction of the bond of $20,000 in the injunction suit, which it is expected Judge Hand will grant this afternoon. Wilbur Wright is in town on a trip which has to do with the suit of his company against Paulhan.

BOGOTA RIOTERS ARE QUIETED DOWN

BOGOTA, Colombia, March 10.—The anti-American rioting has almost ceased. All of the Americans here are safe. The ending of the disorder was due chiefly to the firmness and tact of Elliott Northcott, the United States Minister.

KNOX DELUGED WITH OFFERS OF GOOD JOBS

PROVIDENCE, March 10.—"Oh, I guess I won't go hungry right off," called out the independent young optimist, Philander C. Knox, Jr., when a BOSTON AMERICAN reporter asked him to-day if he had found a job.

"A job?" he said. "I've got offers of a hundred of them. Great Scott, look at them."

The young man with a laugh shoved over a bunch of letters and telegrams that would put a mail pouch.

"You can have a job on my staff," wrote the city editor of a Plattsburg, N. Y., newspaper. "I'll give you what I'm getting, $25 per."

"Come into my establishment and learn the business on your own terms," wrote a big carpet manufacturer, who said that he was glad to note that independence is not yet cracked like the Liberty Bell. "You're more like your daddy than he appreciates," wrote another who offers a job in a big Providence concern. This is on mechanical lines and Knox thinks of taking it up.

"Pretty soft for me, eh?" said the young husband. "Guess I'll have to beat it over home and tell May and mother Bowler see you later."

OH, JOY! HERE'S HATPIN-LESS HAT AT LAST

CHICAGO, March 10.—Mme. Marie president of the National Association of Milliners, announces an artistic revolution of the millinery art which requires no hatpin. The new hat, she says, will have the effect of putting a quietus on the nation-wide clamor against the innocent hatpin, which seems to have terrorized so many men.

Mme. Marie declares the Arabian turban will be the popular Spring tailored head gear for women. It will be worn on crowded streets, in street cars and in other places where walking hats are the correct thing. The turban is an oval-shaped affair, taking on the appearance of a tam of the melon. Its crown is high, and it is trimmed with ribbon of chameleon red.

But the Spring hat for evening wear, a pattern of which has just arrived from Paris is fashioned after the Louis XVI style of floral design. The crown is done in violets, trimmed with amber 120 ribbon of chartreuse green. The new colors for Spring wear, Mme. Marie says, are bright green, dark red and blue, for the chantecleer pruneli, orange, rose and yacht blue will be popular.

HARVARD FINDS THE 'SPORT' IS NOT A COLLEGE SUCCESS

DOES the average college man who has loafed or been a "sport" while an undergraduate become a hard worker or brilliant student in the professional school? The following summary of both sides of this question is made from the report of the Harvard Faculty Committee, published in The Harvard Graduates' Magazine for March.

COLLEGE MEN'S VIEWS.

1. Rank in the Law School indicates future success in life, but rank in college does not; in the Law School the men who have been "sports" in college pass the "grinds."

2. Success in college scholarship furnishes little or no indication of those intellectual qualities that men desire to possess.

3. Activities outside the classroom have great value—association with other young men, so far as possible of the most varied type, the interest in college papers and other forms of student life.

4. College is a sort of interlude in serious life, separated from what goes before, and dissociated with what follows.

5. A "liberal education" has no bearing upon the subsequent career; the acquirement of habits of work may be gained later.

6. College examinations measure mainly the memory and capacity to "grind," without taking account of natural brilliancy of mind.

7. Rank in college may be attained by aid of tutors or printed notes, or "polishing the professors."

8. Athletic sports are a good measure of red blood, while high rank in studies indicates only industrious plodding.

THE COMMITTEE'S FINDINGS.

1. Records of Harvard alumni graduating from Harvard Law School during past 12 years:

	P.C.
Total college men obtaining Law degree with honor	18
Plain college men obtaining Law degree with honor	7
Honor college men obtaining Law degree with honor	20
High honor college men obtaining Law degree with honor	37

N. B.—In the 30 "plain" college men had entered in their senior year, hence were not eligible for honors; deducting these the percentage is reduced from 7 to 3.6. The scholarship of all 30, excepting one, though less than that entitling to honors, was creditable.

2. These figures prove that the man who was honors in Law School without having won them in College is rare, and that the "sport" of really low standing in college who achieves distinction in Law School is almost a myth.

3. Similar statistics of college men in the Harvard Medical School prove the same things by identical methods of comparison.

PRESIDENT LOWELL'S COMMENT ON COMMITTEE'S FINDINGS.

"Almost every undergraduate would be proud to be told that he was destined in after life to write a remarkable history, or to make a notable scientific discovery, and would be shocked to hear that he was to be the best professional baseball player in the world; yet he commonly submits willingly to drudgery that would tend to prepare him for the latter, though recoiling from study that would fit him for intellectual work. This shows a disproportion between immediate ambition and relative permanent values, even as they stand in the mind of the undergraduate himself." President Lowell in Harvard Graduates' Magazine for March, 1910.

CONSULS TO AID IN DEATH CHASE

LYNN, March 10.—Through District Attorney Higgins' arrangements have been made with the State Department at Washington for instructions to be given all United States consuls and ministers abroad to help the police officials who are on their way to Bulgaria to get Yahan Nalbandian, the former Lynn Armenian under arrest for the murder of Minas Moughlan, a fellow countryman whose body was found jammed in a trunk last July.

Inspector Burckes and State Officer Wells, who have gone abroad to get the man, are now in England. They expect to reach Bulgaria by Monday.

The reason for asking the State Department to instruct the consuls to assist the officers in returning was a fear that an appeal might be made by friends to rescue the prisoner while en route for the United States.

DYNAMITE USED IN STRIKE WAR

CORINTH, N. Y., March 10.—This town is under martial law to-day. Aided by the fifty special deputy sheriffs, the men of Company L, National Guard, are patrolling the streets after having guarded the mill of the International Paper Company, whose men are on strike, throughout the night.

It is declared that the company will again attempt to bring in strike-breakers, notwithstanding the dynamiting of a strike-breaking train by sixteen and the arrest of nine imported non-union men on charges of carrying concealed weapons.

Fresh attempts at dynamiting were today reported to have been frustrated by the militia who guarded the dams of the mill, previously attacked with dynamite, to prevent the shutting off the water supply on which work depends.

The strike sympathizers are known to have dynamite in their possession.

SHOE LASTERS' UNION STOPS DAMAGE ORDER

LYNN, March 10.—The Lynn Lasters' Union, which is affiliated with the United Shoe Workers of America, to-day refuses to continue the practice of paying for any more damaged shoes except when a member leaves a box out of the toe of a shoe. The union has also decided that no member shall be discharged for refusing to pay for shoes damaged through no fault of himself. This action, taken for the first time by any of the shoe unions, is to-day being presented to the different shoe manufacturers of Lynn. The Lasters' Union is composed of 1,500 members here and is the strongest of any of the Lynn shoe unions. The members are all hand workmen.

DEEP WATER SPEED TESTS FOR THE NAVY

ROCKLAND, Me., March 10.—Does the depth of the water over which a vessel is steaming affect the speed? To answer this query the navy department has ordered a series of tests over the Rockland, Provincetown and Delaware breakwater measured mile courses. Similar records will be made during the trip over the same courses of the battleships South Dakota and Delaware.

Remember!—I'm Your Friend!

Eleven years ago, when I started to advertise, it was quite right for the thinking man to scoff at Mitchell the Tailor because of his unheard of low prices. Those who had some faith in me thought that I was simply a matter of one or two seasons. They realized that I was giving values; but they took it for granted that I could not last.

Eleven years have gone by and Mitchell the Tailor is doing over fifteen times the business he did then. The woolen mills of the country have opened their doors to me and the representatives of the commission houses with stock to unload can be found daily at my office door, 305 Washington Street, telling the story that must bring ready cash.

Now, you who have followed me this far in the story, I ask to go farther. Eleven years ago I did a business of Forty Thousand Dollars. Today I do a business of over ONE-HALF MILLION DOLLARS. You must know that the customers who trade with me are reasonable human beings, and a glance at my books will show the names of some of the best people in New England.

I am a friend of the traveling man—Because he wants a rough, unfinished cheviot that looks clean all the time. He is a friend of mine—Because he is always advertising my business.

I am a friend of the sedate professional man—Because I furnish him with a neat gray worsted suiting at a price consistent with hard usage, one that he can wear two seasons and renew often.

I am a friend of the young man who wants classy styles—Because of my big volume of business it is possible for me to carry about everything the market affords at a price that would not cause a young man to wear last year's suit another season.

I am a friend to the mothers of growing families—Because I make it possible for her to keep the men of the family properly dressed on a reasonable salary.

Mr. Reader—I want you to be my friend. My ambition is to build this business to One Million Dollars. In order to do this I must have your co-operation. Now I want you to try me this season. Come in. Order a suit of Blue Serge or a fine Black Unfinished Thibet at a price of $7.75. After you have selected the goods ask to see the All-Linen Canvas and the real French Haircloth that I boast so much about. If these are not the colorings you want, go through my stock, and remember, if I take your order and the suit does not fit satisfactorily to you, a new suit will be made. Have this written in your receipt.

Now, "Lest You Forget"—Easter comes early—March 27—but if you are not in a hurry, order now and have it done the Saturday before Easter. I will guarantee to deliver a suit within 48 hours after it is ordered.

(Signed) MITCHELL THE TAILOR.

RED SOX PRACTICE HELD UP BY LOSS OF TWO CATCHERS

RED SOX LOSE TWO CATCHERS BY INJURIES

By A. H. C. MITCHELL.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 10.—It is sometimes necessary to use the players' feet as well as their brains and their batting eyes and their skill in holding the ice-skinned grounder, in order to properly chronicle the doings of the Red Sox in their training camp. It becomes the duty of the writer to say that Catcher Tommy Madden, the Bentley boy, is limping around with a cane today because his right heel is raw. Tommy bought a pair of shoes before he left Boston to attend that blow-out his friends gave him in Roxbury. The shoes were too small and he did not mind until a blister developed. When he arrived here and began training the eight pitchers gave him so much work to do that Tommy had no time to give his heel a chance to get well.

As a result he had to seek the services of Dr. Green, the trainer. Now, it must be confessed that Green is not entitled to that prefix in his name. He, however, assumes the offices of a physician whenever he thinks his duties as a trainer require it. He, therefore, prescribed some pills for Madden and then bandaged his heel. "That don't feel right to me," declared Tommy when the trainer had finished his job.

Madden Goes to Doctor.

"Best job you ever saw in your life," replied Green. Tommy said nothing but hunted up Dr. Scanlan, the Brooklyn pitcher who is here training with his team. Scanlan is a store enough doctor having received his diploma several years ago. For two years he has been connected with the Kings County Hospital in Brooklyn during the months he is not playing baseball.

"Take a look at my heel, will you, Doc?" said Madden. "Sure, that's see it. Who put that bandage on it? Well, it's all wrong; take it off. Don't ever use cotton in a case like this. Now then I guess you are all right and will be able to play again in a day or two. Don't go out for practice until I tell you."

With Madden on the hospital list Manager Donovan had to fall back on Pat Donahue, his sole remaining backstop. Now Pat was under the weather yesterday from having taken too much exercise. He did not appear for the afternoon practice and the manager became worried for when Pat lickity answered the first call for duty Donovan decided not to send for Dr. Forbes, the regular club physician at Hot Springs. Pat declared today that he will ready for business again.

Donovan dug up a uniform for Eddie Karger, who arrived yesterday noon and the first baseman donned the gamgee for the first time this morning. He is in good condition, but will have to work the kinks out of his arm by easy stages the same as the other pitchers have been doing. He threw a hard work on Monday.

"What are you going to do with all these pitchers, Patsy?" asked Karger when he saw the array of box artists out at the yard. "Is there any room for me?"

"That's all right, Eddie," replied the manager. "I can go ahead in your own way. You don't have to worry any."

Donovan has taken occasion to have a word with all the young pitchers and as a result they are all showing the best there is in them. The manager had a long talk with Chief Ehman, the biggest man on the Red Sox staff.

Ehman Making Good.

"Now, Ehman," said Donovan, "you were down here last year and was sent the manager last year to warrant his keeping you, and you are starting in this season as though you felt it was no use that you were to be sent to the minors again. I want to say you have as much chance as anybody. You want to make up your mind to do the very best you can and prove to your manager that he can't get along without you. If you do your very best all the newspaper boys will say so in their newspapers. Other managers read all these training reports and if it really becomes necessary to dispose of you you will find that other big league clubs will refuse to waive and you will land in the majors anyway.

"I never doubt it just in that light before," replied the big pitcher, "and I will show you something."

The result of this talk is that Ehman is working like a dog and has already shown far more than he did last year. The same thing applies to Cecil Thompson, the left-hander acquired from Syracuse. Thompson thought he had no show of landing on the regular staff and was inclined to be discouraged. Donovan took him in hand and showed him how he had a chance to get with some class and he can even if the Red Sox could not use him. The boy at once braced up and already showed up for the making of a fine box artist.

"The squad as a whole is as good as I ever saw in spring practice," said Donovan. "There's not a dub one in the lot."

TRAINING CAMP NOTES.

Pitcher Cicgar joined the Cincinnati squad today. All the other members of Griffith's team are expected on later trains.

Outfielder Eisemann recently released by Memphis, has displaced Big Tim Jordan in the first sack. His work here in practice has been the talk of the camp.

Harry Lumley, field manager of the Brooklyns, has reported here to Manager Bill Dahlen.

Buckner, who pitched for Lawrence last year, is laid up suffering with a sore left arm as the result of vaccination. He is a member of the Brooklyn squad.

A smart thunder shower last night softened up the grounds which were becoming quite hard.

Still no signs of Cicotte. He might at least write.

"Captain Lord and the other fellows will be on their way tonight," said Donovan this morning. "They will get a good workout and find us in condition when they arrive."

The Best Cough Syrup Is Easily Made at Home

You can make a full pint of cough syrup in one minute by a few people enough to last a family a long time at a cost of only 54 cents. Take a pint bottle, and if better than the best cough syrups you ever used. It is pleasant children like it. It stops the worst cough in a hurry, and is splendid for other throat troubles. Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex (a pint bottle) and mix it with home syrup. Shake well and you have a pint of genuine cough syrup, which will keep for a long time. The Pinex and Sugar Syrup recipe is used in many of the cough syrups now sold at fancy prices.

The plan has been used by many people in the United States and Canada, and is now used to quote from the Toronto Board in New York. At that time there were many worthless imitations of this recipe, but the original has never been equaled. For quick results, this mixture is unsurpassed, and millions of bottles have been sold. Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway White Pine extract, rich in guaiacol and all the other valuable elements of the pine tree which are called, in medicine, the most healing to the throat and lungs. Guaiacol is also a well known remedy for coughs, colds, bronchitis, etc. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

Keep it handy in the house and take a little when you feel a cough coming on. You can also mix it with honey or sugar syrup, if desired. Children like it. Handsome Society Widow Bride of Rich Clubman

By ELIZABETH ELLITOT.

A pleasant ripple in the Lenten calm of things social was caused today by the wedding of the beautiful and interesting young widow, Mrs. John Lloyd Snelling of Newton Centre to Russell G. Fessenden of Boston, street.

Mrs. Snelling is the daughter of Henry Bigelow Williams of Boston street, and before her marriage, as Catherine Williams was known as the handsomest girl in Boston society. She is a decided blonde and with retains her slender girlish figure which was one of her most notable attractions.

Mr. Fessenden, who is of the Harvard class of '99, belongs to the Eastern Yacht, Somerset, University, Country, Union and Tennis and Racquet Clubs. He is a son of the late Sewall H. Fessenden and a brother of Sewall H. Fessenden, president of the American Trust Company. His ushers are Mrs. Henry Is Ford and Mrs. Sullivan Sargent.

The ceremony, which took place at the home of the bride's father, No. 56 The Fenway, at 12:30, was performed by the Rev. Paul Revere Frothingham. Only the two families and a few intimate friends were present.

The bride, who was handsome in an imported gown of palest gray satin, was given away by her father. Her only attendant was her winsome little daughter, Christine, who wore a charming frock of white muslin over pale green.

The decorations were of yellow and potted plants, Easter lillies prevailing.

George Bingham was the best groom's best man and there were no ushers. After a short wedding tour Mr. and Mrs. Fessenden will reside in Boston.

Lieutenant and Mrs. George Melbourne Morrow (Christine W. Flint), whose marriage took place a fortnight ago at the church on the Sayboro Highlands will immediately upon the completion of their honeymoon tour, go to West Point, where Lieutenant Morrow is at present stationed.

Friends of the Dorval Greenoughs are delighted at their decision to return home after two years residence abroad. They are not coming until late Summer, however, but the younger set is happy in anticipation of the two charming daughters being on hand next Winter for all the gayeties of their set.

Mr. and Mrs. Greenough have been spending the Winter in Germany, while the daughters have been completing their studies in Paris.

Mrs. Oliver Ames, Miss Alice Allen, Mrs. J. Arthur Beebe, Mrs. Ole Bull, Miss Elizabeth Bartol, Mrs. C. H. Bonner, Miss Julia L. Bates, Mrs. Frank A. Day, Mrs. Silva M. de Normandi, the Misses Houghton, Mrs. Herbert S. Johnson, Mrs. Theophilus Jung, Mrs. Robert M. Morse, Mrs. Thomas Mack, Mrs. Henry H. Proctor, Mrs. Preston Pond, Mrs. Henry B. Reed, Mrs. Austin C. Wellington, Mrs. William Quincy Wilder are the patronesses for the lecture this evening at Ford Hall by Dr. Allen A. Stockdale.

The enticing subject of the lecture is "Shall the Corners of the Mouth Turn Up or Down," a topic so suggestive of mirth and wit that doubtless many will attend for the lecture itself, without regard to the philanthropy that originated it.

The lecture is arranged for the benefit of the Massachusetts Anti-Cigarette League, and the presiding officer is Dr. David is Seamed of this city.

Mrs. Edward Foote, who spent the Winter in New York, has gone on to Washington to be near her daughter, Mrs. Tyler Kyck Wendell. She has taken an apartment in the Highlands for six weeks or more. Upon concluding her stay in Washington she will return to her home in Beacon street.

Mrs. John A. Bigelow of No. 37 Commonwealth avenue is giving an elaborate dinner this evening at her residence.

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. Frantz D. Young of Brookline for the wedding of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Bond Young, to Harden Brimmer Mayne of Sydney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd N. Mayne. The wedding is to take place at St. Paul's Episcopal church in Brookline, on the morning of Tuesday, March 29, at eight o'clock.

The engagement is announced of George Anderson of this city to Miss Elsie Bonnell, H. Evans of Mount Holly, New Jersey. Mr. Anderson is the son of the Rev. James A. Anderson, formerly of Somerville and a graduate of Harvard University of the class of 1907. Miss Evans is a graduate of Wellesley College, class of —.

George P. Field of Boston and Brookline is having today for his annual Winter trip to the South. He goes to Bermuda, accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. H. B. Pearson, and they will remain in the South until the first week in May.

YARNS WORTH READING

SAVING THE ANVILS

A STORY to be good does not necessarily have to be new. The following story, which was a favorite of the late Senator Carmack of Tennessee, falls within the rule:

"A brawny negro," said Senator Carmack, "was once employed as a stevedore on the docks in Memphis to help unload a cargo of hardware from the steamer Anna P. Silver.

"The negro was carrying anvils ashore, and the great was his strength that he carried one under each arm.

"In crossing the narrow gangplank with an anvil under each arm he slipped and fell into the water.

"He came up puffing and blowing. 'Throw down er rope,' he yelled.

"The man on board laughed at him in derision.

"'Throw down er rope,' pleaded the negro, treading water vigorously.

"Getting nothing but jeers the negro cried excitedly:

"'Fer de lam's sake, man, throw down er rope or I'll drop one er dese anvils.'"

The Reformation of Mike and Bill

By JAMES J. MONTAGUE

MIKE MUGGLES was a burglar who one evening took a chance
On plundering the mansion of a Captain of Finance.
He pried away the iron bars that hedged about the porch
And used, to find his way upstairs, a small electric torch.
He shook his shoes and softly trod across the parquet floor,
And with his trusty jimmy forced the financier's own door.

Bill Getaway was Muggles's pal, and he remained outside
To blow a warning wiistle, if pollection he espied.
He waited long and patiently, and grew morose and glum,
When long and weary hours passed by and Muggles didn't come.
He with successful burgling; it's quite essential when
A gentleman goes in a house that he comes out again.

Just as the dawn was due to break, Mike Muggles with a grin
Appeared upon a balcony and whistered: "Bill, come in!"
Reluctantly his pal obeyed, his apprehensive glance
Uneasy when it fell upon the Captain of Finance.
Upon the brink of dumb surprise Bill's doubt and wonder verged
When Mike remarked: "It's all right, Bill, for him and me has merged."

Now Mike and Bill both hurdle still, but not by night or stealth.
They need not feardrolls their lives or liberty or health.
They sit in big committees rooms at rosewood roll-top desks.
Upon Bokhara carpets, wrought with serpentis arabesques.
The Captain of Finance explains: "They both would steal, you see,
And so I made them Senators, and now they steal for me!"

Society Showers Honors on Countess Moltke at the Opera Performance

By ELIZABETH ELLIOTT.

If it weren't for Grand Opera how would our new society ever have class enough to exist? Of course they have done it in other years and managed fairly well on two weeks each season of Italian Grand Opera and the numerous festivities it brings in its train has become so much the fad of fashionable life in Boston that it is well nigh appalling to think of the dreary waste of Lenten days without it.

Not any other days, in fact.

There is the undoubted danger of the venture being a failure, for society has stamped it with its seal of approval and backed it with its money—both good and bad, but worth while when obtained.

Last night was quite as brilliant as any Wednesday night during the season. Society has the opera habit and there is no perceptible falling off in attendance. All fashionable interest last night centered about the Olivet box, which was occupied by the Countess Moltke was a guest, also the popular and much sought after bachelor, Gordon Cumming.

All Eyes on Countess.

The countess, who is a decided blonde of almost regal poise and bearing wore a strikingly lovely gown of shimmery blue satin of the outré Directoire mode, combined with pink satin. A huge bouquet of pink roses was worn on the bodice, and a band of pink satin and diamonds circled her hair.

The countess is being royally entertained during her visit, and no effort are left undone to make her stay a delightful one, the would need remain in town indefinitely in order to satisfy their will.

Also was the guest of honor at the dinner which Mrs. Oliver Ames gave last night.

Mrs. Ames, who is the most charming hostess imagination, wore pale blue satin and diamonds.

The three Thayer girls—the Countess Moltke, Thayer, Mrs. Alexander Agassiz, Mrs. Adam Thayer, and Miss Sally Thayer—the most interesting trio of the evening, were all three just right, but all in different ways.

Miss Sally, who is as dark as her two sisters are fair, was in her inimitable way, and was most attractive in a gown of white satin draped with white chiffon and a necklace of pearls.

So a beautiful gown of white allured two over pale pink satin. Mrs. Bayard Thayer looked superb. She had as her guest Mrs. Henry I. Higginson, who wore black satin and white feathers.

Mrs. Arthur E. Davis wore one of the most attractive gowns seen this season. It was of yellow satin draped with pale lavender chiffon embroidered in silver. Miss Elizabeth Wells, who is spoken of among the "lookers-on" of the dress parade as the girl with the long earrings, was especially attractive in a gown of yellow satin draped with white chiffon and trimmed with bands of embroidery in grape design, done in pearls.

Her earrings, at least an inch and a half long, were of gold studded with pearls.

The fascinating young matron, Mrs. J. L. Higginson, Jr., was distinguished in pale blue satin and pearled lace.

Miss Clara Endicott Sears, who has been displaying some wonderful gowns of late, wore heavy white lace embroidered in silver in rose design over pale blue satin.

Mrs. Stanley P. Clemens, who is a tragmatic lover and who rarely misses an opera, was handsome in palest blue satin combined with white lace and pearls.

Miss Nora Thayer, who was sweet and prettier than ever in pearl satin, had as her guest Miss Hannah Osgood, who wore soft rose satin and white lace.

Miss Susan Thayer, who was a caller in the Nathaniel Thayer box during intermission, was in white satin and white chiffon.

Miss Alice Parker was in black lace and Miss Helen M. Winslow was in lavender satin.

Mrs. Henry D. Bacon, who was in dark blue satin and white lace, had with her her interesting daughter, Nina, who wore black satin and black chiffon, and had that interesting little debutante, Fanny Osgood, who wore pale blue satin.

Miss Ruth Nickerson, one of the handsomest as well as one of the wealthiest of the season's buds, evidently decided at the last moment to come, as she appeared in a chic walking suit of deep blue serge and a large black hat.

Her mother, Mrs. William Nickerson, also in street costume, wore a black cloth walking suit and black hat.

One of the most striking beauties there was the tall, slender, dark-eyed Marie Louise Dexter, who was in white satin with a corsage bouquet of deep red roses.

Necklace of Diamonds.

Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer, who chaperoned Miss Sally and several of her friends was in white brocaded satin and a necklace of diamonds.

Mrs. Allan was in pale pink satin with a corset and necklace of diamonds.

Mrs. Henry P. Bowditch, who was in dark blue satin and white lace, had with her her interesting daughter, Nina, who wore black satin and black chiffon, and had that interesting little debutante, Fanny Osgood, who wore pale blue satin.

Rev. Dr. H. A. Bridgeman spoke before the Women's Alliance in the Second Congregational Church parlors yesterday on "Organized Christianity."

Divinity

By DAVID L. BROWN

"In the beginning—God."

Two—Man—

Since—God and Man working together in harmony.

It does not matter what or how you think of God—God is. Whether God to you means Force or Love or Nature or Personality, the fact remains that the reality of the existence of God must be accepted. For there is an influence at work in the world outside of Man's that must be taken into consideration. That influence is God—or God, if you prefer. It is actively at work in the betterment of the world—in the uplifting and inspiration of Man.

With this influence for good, Man must ally himself if he is to achieve anything worth while. In an entirely reverent but practical sense, Men must incorporate God in himself.

The main attribute that Man assigns to God is Divinity. But Divinity is purely Man's conception. It is his word for the Forethought that seems to have regulated the process of development through the ages. It is his word for the Truth in Nature. It is his word for the Force that has created or controlled the evolution of the World out of Chaos. The highest attribute of Personality and Love has been summed up in it.

But Man's mind cannot conceive of anything that is not intrinsic to Man. Therefore, Divinity is but another word for Power—whether in his God or in himself.

Brother, has there been a shattered hope, a ruined ambition in your life? Then out of the Chaos—create, evolve!

To reconstruct success and happiness out of unused hopes, to achieve goodness of heart and strength of character is a work of Divinity. Determination and confidence are the means. Put the Divinity in you to work!

WOULD YOU LIKE IT?

"YOU women," exclaimed the disgusted brother, "simply have a glorious time doing nothing! My word, I envy you your idleness!"

"Idleness?" shrieked his pretty sister.

"Yes, idleness! Oh, why—why—why wasn't I born a woman?"

"Oh, yes; you'd like to be a woman!" retorted the pretty sister. "Just try it for a day! Fasten a blanket and a counterpane round your legs; bundle a strap round your waist so tight you can't draw a full breath or eat a hearty meal; have your hair all loose and fluffy so that it keeps tickling your ears and getting into your eyes; wear high-heeled shoes, and gloves a size too small for you; cover your face with a veil full of spots that make you squint; tie a huge hat on with pins, so that every time the wind blows it pulls your hair out by the roots; and then, without any pockets, and with short sleeves, an openwork stockings, go for a walk on a Winter's day, and enjoy yourself. Oh, yes, my word, you would like it!"

"Lucia di Lammermoor" Presented by Star Cast

By FREDERICK JOHNS.

"Lucia di Lammermoor" was repeated at the Boston Opera House last evening with Lydekraka, Constantino and Pinzari in the cast. The opera of "Lucia" is still a great drawing card, although it is one of the least interesting of the standard operas. To be sure, it has a powerful plot. Scott never wrote anything quite horrible, and the adapter for opera purposes did his best to make it worse.

There is Lucia, a charming young lady of high birth to fall in love with the traditional enemy of her house. When he departs on a mission, the cruel brother forces her to marry a man she hates, telling her that her sweetheart is dead.

The return of the latter as the marriage contract is signed unhinges the mind of the poor girl. In the bridal chamber she murders her husband and then goes clean crazy.

This is bad enough, but the next scene shows us the lover in a grave and full of glorious resignation, and he falls upon his sword. Truely a dark, dark, dismal and dispiriting story, one would think.

Not at all. Donizetti has treated it with light, airy and dainty music, and as the dresses watch the terrible tragedies quite unmoved, the audience at the closing of the marriage contract is dismantle but sweetly.

The real scene for Lucia is the delightful entrance aspiration. It is evidently Lucia's day of vocal trills, fioriture and fancy touches. The lover sobs in the last act, but before that he has nothing more than cuts himself fatally in beautiful words from those times when the heroes indulged in clutching.

Well, anyway, pretty little Lucia, and nobody believes, when she enters with the bridle, that she was so unladylike as to use it on her husband. She is a harmless maiden that everyone likes. However, she should sings the mad scene delightfully.

Constantino is a magnificent Ernest. His authority and poise are never better demonstrated than in this work. He is particularly fine in the sextet and in the short aerial scene.

Formari makes a tuneful and sufficiently villainous brother, and the rest of the cast was well behaved.

Mountain Love

By THOMAS BOYD

MY love comes down from the mountain
Through the tassels of the dawn;
I look and the star of morning
From the sky is gone.

My love comes down from the mountain.
At dawn, dear sweet;
Did not step from the star of the mountain,
Or little white feet?

O whence come your twining tresses
And your shining eyes?
That out of the gold of the morning
And the blue of the skies?

The misty mountain is burning
In the dawn red fire,
And the heart in my breast is burning
And lost in desire.

I follow you into the valley,
But no word can I say;
To the land of the West I will follow
Till the dusk of my day.

CROWDS GROW STEADILY AND MANY BUYERS ARE IN EVIDENCE.

By J. C. KERRISON.

Automobile Show in Mechanics Building is booming even more than ever before today. Among the 20,000 spectators who viewed the splendid exhibition of American and foreign automobiles, worth $2,500,000, were many buyers.

The crowds are steadily increasing day by day and the Thursday crowd bids fair to beat all records for attendance and sales.

Scores of the brilliantly polished automobiles are already tagged "sold." Among the buyers of the show cars today were many prominent business and professional men and members of the State and city governments in Massachusetts.

The Show of Smiles.

The auto show is the Show of Smiles. The spectators smile and so do the makers and the salesmen, who are turning many trades today.

The show this year fully emphasizes the fact that the makers have endeavored to get the very best of material and construction to bring the details and refinements to the most complete degree, thereby giving the purchaser more value for his money than ever before, without increasing the selling price of the cars.

Each dealer and manufacturer, the show demonstrates, has been striving to hit the bull's-eye of perfection, and there are some remarkable shots to be seen at the show in the shape of limousines, roadsters, racers, runabouts and commercial cars of every description and every price from $750 to ten times that figure.

As the week progresses the visitors are displaying a keener interest in the show and there seems to be an atmosphere of increased business too. From today's indications a much greater amount of retail business will be transacted than during the week at any of the eight previous shows.

Mirrors Display Parts.

Many of the exhibitors, in order to bring the different chassis models into prominently before the visitors each day, have shifted the cars from one end of the building to the other. This is a good idea and it increases interest in the exhibits where it has been tried out.

Today there was still greater interest taken in the exhibits of chassis with touring models and special body cars, which are displayed to advantage by the means of plate glass reflecting mirrors and electrical contrivances.

The exhibits all proved attractive to the throng of society day visitors. Miss Marie Lee, whose keen knowledge of automobile championship of Boston with Elenanora Sears, was looking over the cars yesterday afternoon. She crawled all over the foreign racers and seemed to know every one of the finest parts of the intricate machines.

Society Girl Praises Show.

"Oh! I do think that the show's just dandy," said Miss Lee to one of her society girl friends, as she wandered through the sea of autos.

"Society Day" was a grand success. Even though the price of admission was doubled yesterday, still a large throng turned out.

It was a treat when the biggest gathering of society people arrived at the big show. Many of the society matrons were accompanied by their chauffeurs for opinions of the chauffeurs were asked time and time again by the society women as to the merits of this or that car.

The two most popular gathering places of the throng, who came to survey the artistic person in Grand Hall are in the automobiles and on the platform, where the Packards are displayed. The hall looks like a southern Mardi Gras carnival of color and flowers.

The orchestras all over the building play all the favorite pieces for the visitors and are applauded to the echo by visitors and exhibitors alike. The enthusiasm over the autos is genuine. Boston seems to have become even more enamored of the automobile today than ever before.

The E. M. F. Baby Auto.

If you go up to the show today after school hours and see a throng of eager boys and girls running along beside a small white object in the basement of the building don't get frightened and think that it's one of the live wild animals that Teddy Roosevelt has sent home as a trophy of his African hunt. No need of getting frightened.

It's just the cute model baby automobile that the "E. M. F." company is displaying. It's a watch charm size of an auto, just about the size that Jack the Giant Killer would have worn if autos were in vogue in the good old days. The little machine is a good one. It's scarcely more than a foot and a half long, but it's absolutely perfect and runs as smoothly as any of the big brothers in the "E. M. F." line and that's running some.

The machine is painted white and it would be hard to say whether the engine that follows its course throughout the basement or it runs, perhaps in a race for a baby vanderbilt cup.

And you, too, if you want to see the big auto show. There are but two more days before the doors will close, Friday and Saturday.

LITTLE GOSSIP OF THE SHOW

H. H. Rice of the Nordyke-Marmon Company of Indianapolis, who is at the show assisting Frank E. Wing with the fine Marmon cars, received word yesterday that the daring Joe Matson had joined the racing team of the Marmon Company. Matson is recognized as one of the most daring men on the road today, a man who fears is nothing and is capable of getting every thing in the way of speed that a car possesses. He is to drive his first race with the Marmon at Los Angeles on Saturday and Sunday next.

The Knox cars are attracting considerable attention and it is a matter of considerable pride to A. P. Underhill and his men of the Knox company to tell of the excellent results of the several cars tested at the Worcester Polytechnic Institute, when the Knox showed a remarkable degree of efficiency, and the Knox is one of the most attractive in the entire show, and is never lacking in visitors.

The Shawmut X-tra Tread nose skid tire seems to have made a most favorable impression upon the general public. Although comparatively a new comer in the tire field it has not been placed on the market without having received a thorough and practical test by its makers, the Shawmut Tire Company of Boston.

The tire is made in Watertown by the Shawmut Company, which has been interested in tire construction during the past four years. Sales Manager Welling G. Page has come to the conclusion that advertising in either the product or the treatment of the consumer is sliding.

The advantage of having to loosen only two nuts, remove the damaged casing, replace it new one in from two to five minutes, easily accomplished, and without losing time and temper, makes it appeal to all.

An important announcement affecting the local automobile trade was made yesterday when Alfred Measure announced that he had just signed a contract whereby he will represent the Cadillac here, beginning July 1. Mr. Measure will be given an agency and his territory includes Boston and vicinity.

His contract begins July 1 of this year, but between now and then he will be in position to handle Cadillac cars under an arrangement with Alvan T. Fuller, who has had the Cadillac agency for several years.

Mr. Measure will conduct the agency under the name of Cadillac Automobile Company of Boston, with headquarters at Nos. 372 to 378 Boylston street, between Arlington and Berkeley streets. It is one of the finest on Boylston street, will be refitted immediately and will be supplied by the Cadillac agency as soon as the work of remodelling is finished.

Mr. Measure is well known in the automobile trade in Boston. For nine years he was manager of the local branch of Morgan & Wright, the tire manufacturers. About eighteen months ago he went with Alvan T. Fuller and recently has had charge of Mr. Fuller's new service depot in Brighton.

The New Departure Manufacturing Company of Bristol, Ct., makers of the car here before known as the Houpt car, has purchased the Harry S. Houpt Manufacturing Company of New York, and the car will hereafter be known as the Houpt-Rockwell. The separate identity of the two companies will be maintained. A. F. Rockwell, president of the New Departure Manufacturing Company, assumes the presidency of the Harry S. Houpt Manufacturing Company, as well.

One of the spaces that is always crowded is that of the Truffault-Hartford shock absorber. The manufacturer of this absorber of the shocks incidental to touring over rough roads, has used an interesting mechanical device to illustrate the efficiency of its construction. Two miniature automobiles, each with its driver in effigy, are seen to be bobbing up and down as the machinery underneath revolves their wheels over pulleys which have knobby surfaces.

The small auto equipped with the Truffault-Hartford shock absorber is only slightly disturbed by the roughness of the make-believe road, while the driver of the other auto is thrown almost out of his seat by each succeeding jolt.

The display now made by the Vicmarn Oil Company is one of the most interesting of the accessory department. It contains all oils and greases necessary to lubricate the way and means of the motorists.

Of the various safety devices that have been tried out on high powered touring cars from time to time, one in particular is of considerable merit, and that is attached to the G-Th Thomas on exhibition at the show. This company was the first to equip a car with a positive back stop safety device, and its value has been shown time and again.

It positively prevents the car from backing down hill in the event of the motor stopping from any cause. It can be used as a brake when stopping on a hill, and this feature is especially desirable for use in a mountainous country.

The device has proved a life saver on many occasions, and experts agree that this safety device is the most important and necessary improvement that has been made in years.

It consists of a ratchet and pawl, the pawl being thrown into contact with the ratchet by the action of a lever located just under the driver's seat.

In marked contrast to the custom of a few years or even a year ago, the people who buy motor cars are not entering or placing their orders months in advance of the actual time of delivery of their cars. When cars were touring and designs changing rather radically every year buyers preferred to wait until they could see the machines on the salesroom floor before giving their orders. Now, however, the situation has changed. Buyers have confidence in the product of the more established concerns and have no hesitancy in placing their orders months in advance.

"We are taking orders now for delivery during the Fall and early Winter of 1910," says J. W. Maguire, the Pierce-Arrow branch manager. "Our customers in fact buyers have confidence in the product. Today 1909 cars are being built, as rapidly as excellence of workmanship with the finest materials will permit of hurry—to satisfy a demand which sprang up in incredible volume long before the first hundred cars were completed.

Of course, you want to know all about a car which has been favored with the warmest approval ever extended by the American motor-buying public to any motor car.

Even if you own a car to which you are strongly attached, you would like to have placed before you all the information which will shed light upon a condition so unprecedented as the Hupmobile has created.

And if you are wavering in your choice of a car, your desire to know is even stronger.

Arrange for a demonstration of the car, so that you can satisfy yourself as to the literal truth of every statement we have made.

A small diamond is relatively good and just as valuable as a large one.

In the same sense, the Hupmobile is precisely as fine as the largest, the best and the most expensive cars made.

We make the comparison because we want you to learn to associate the Hupmobile in your mind with the finest cars you know.

The Hupmobile claims the right (and that right is conceded by discriminating owners) to travel side by side with the best products of motordom.

It confesses no delinquencies; admits no inferiorities; concedes no advantage, save size and carrying capacity, to cars costing twice and thrice its price. Observe the personnel of its ownership in your own city.

Note that the majority of men who drive a Hupmobile are the men who know good cars—whose private garage, perhaps, houses several fine cars of other types.

The Hupmobile was built to fill a particular need—to supply a special want—to furnish a type of car that was lacking.

Its creators could see no reason why a car carrying two passengers should not be just as good—just as sound and just as trustworthy—as the best big car built.

Every part that contributes to power and speed and staunchness in the Hupmobile is precisely as good and fine as the same part in the best big car.

The two are mates in quality.

The Hupmobile will go anywhere that the big car will go; climb any hill the big car will climb, and do anything the big car will do, except that it will not carry the same number of passengers.

When you buy its ordinary and moderate price, you say to yourself: "I am getting just the sort of car indicated by the price—a moderately good car."

When you buy a Hupmobile, on the contrary, you buy a quality and a degree of excellence with which the price has nothing to do.

For instance, the four-cylinder motor (3½ in. bore x 4¾ in. stroke) is rated at 20 H. P. Dimensions are generous and proportionate—the carbon steel crank shaft is 1¼ inches in diameter, with ⅛ inch off-set from the centre of the cylinders. The large valves (1⅝ inches in diameter, 45 degrees seat) facilitate development of the engine's full power. All valves are on the left side, with spark plugs over the inlets.

The most important feature in connection with the cam shaft and cams is that the valve tappets (⅞ inch in diameter) have gray fibre inserts where contact is made with the valve stems, insuring silence.

The Bosch high-tension magneto—the same as used on the costliest cars—simplifies the operation of the car by rendering a spark control unnecessary. Spark coils, batteries and wiring are dispensed with.

The engine oiler is the most unique, and at the same time the most effective—we believe—yet devised. The oil is supplied to the engine in proportion to the amount of fuel supply—automatically increasing and decreasing as the throttle is opened and closed—and more oil is fed during heavy work and on grades than when running at higher speed on the level. A pipe from the hot water system runs through the oil box, keeping the oil warm at all times. The oiler adjustment is extremely simple, and the number of parts is only a fraction of those used in any pump design.

A Thousand Miles Through Snowdrifts

The sensation of the first New Yrok automobile show, in January, was the trip of three Hupmobile cars from the Detroit factory to New York, over roads deep in snow and through the coldest weather of the winter.

These cars left Detroit the night of December 27. The worst blizzard of the season was at its height. Before them lay a thousand miles of snow drifts, two to five feet deep.

Without having experienced a moment's delay from any cause save the almost impassable drifts of snow, the three cars entered New York early on the morning of January 7—each fit and read to be driven back to Detroit immediately.

It was the most severe test to which a car of the Hupmobile type and the Hupmobile price had ever been submitted.

The cars were not especially built nor especially prepared.

One of them was the famous "Little Pal"—the third Hupmobile built. This car was driven through the Detroit dealers' reliability run last spring with a perfect score; it went through the Glidden tour; during the summer it was driven from Detroit to New York and Back; and is now owned.

The other two are privately owned, and both had seen a full season's hard use.

This trip—successfully completed under the most discouraging of weather and road conditions—again clinches the Hupmobile's right—long since established—to travel in the company of cars of the highest class.

We made the trip merely to establish in your mind the distinction and the difference between Hupmobile construction and the construction of the usual car at a popular price.

The intake pipe is new and has proved a wonderful auxiliary to the excellent working qualities of the motor. It is cast with a hot air pipe in the same piece, the hot air pipe drawing air from around the exhaust pipe down to the bottom of the carburetor, guaranteeing a better mixture on account of the warm air and the fact that heated air preserves the carburetor action under varying climatic conditions.

The cooling system of radiation uses about three gallons of water. The number of vertical tubes, increased from four to five, and the large intermediate tank, entirely eliminate any tendency of the water to boil.

The multiple disc clutch of nine saw blade steel plates, contained in the transmission case, runs in oil.

The rear axle is of great strength. The axle shafts are 1⅞ inches in diameter, of cold drawn piston rod steel, journaled on Hyatt bearings at the wheels and large shim adjustment two-point ball bearings at the differential case and propeller shaft.

A drop forged 40 per cent carbon steel, heat treated, deep "I" beam section front axle, having a dropped drop from the ends and the yokes forged integral, is used.

If the Hupmobile were any bigger, it could not be made as good without increasing the price.

These things (which are literally true) will explain to you what, perhaps, you had not understood before—why you have encountered, in the year past, so many enthusiastic partisans of the Hupmobile.

Everybody, if you will stop to think backward a little bit, has seemed to say kind things about the Hupmobile.

They have said these things about the Hupmobile because it is the newly good kind of a moderate-sized car which we have just described.

On November 1, 1908, the first Hupmobile—the experimental car—was completed.

On November 15, 1909, car No. 1000 was run out of the new factory.

This was one of the output of five thousand 1910 cars—every one of which was sold before the new factory was completed, in August, 1909.

At this moment, approximately two thousand Hupmobiles are in use in all parts of the world, under all sorts of conditions, and have proved beyond doubt the rightness of Hupmobile design and practice.

In the year past Hupmobiles have climbed mountains; they have traversed roads on which larger cars would have been utterly helpless; they have crossed deserts.

Indeed, there is no condition of going which the Hupmobile has not successfully essayed—oftentimes encountering obstacles impassable to heavier and larger cars.

A year ago there were less than 100 Hupmobiles in commission.

Today 1000 are being built, as rapidly as excellence of workmanship with the finest materials will permit of hurry—to satisfy a demand which sprang up in incredible volume long before the first hundred cars were completed.

Of course, you want to know all about a car which has been favored with the warmest approval ever extended by the American motor-buying public to any motor car.

Even if you own a car to which you are strongly attached, you would like to have placed before you all the information which will shed light upon a condition so unprecedented as the Hupmobile has created.

And if you are wavering in your choice of a car, your desire to know is even stronger.

Arrange for a demonstration of the car, so that you can satisfy yourself as to the literal truth of every statement we have made.

$500,000 JAPAN NAVY FRAUDS

TOKIO, March 10.—Twenty men have been arrested in connection with the discovery of $500,000 naval frauds at Yokosuka naval station. In seven years, the investigation so far shows, metals worth 3,000,000 yen have been stolen by clerks and other employes. Similar conditions are believed to exist at other naval yards. Excitement over the vast frauds has momentarily silenced the anti-American cry.

Brain and Muscle—Are They Allies or Enemies?

They Divide Your Vitality—So Don't Overdo the Muscle, Unless You Want the Brain to Suffer

Copyright, 1910, by American-Journal-Examiner

Mr. N. L. Bull sends a newspaper clipping which says that athletes make good students, quoting Dean Albert W. Smith of Cornell University to the effect that the university oarsmen, football players, baseball players and runners stood high in their examinations.

Mr. Bull says:

"I should like to ask whether or not there is evidence that can satisfactorily contradict the assertion that the operating force of mind and body is alike transferable to either, providing the organs thereof are equally developed.

"Is there any reason why the athlete, the man who develops superior energy through bodily exercise, should not have superior mental powers, provided he does not neglect the mind? Would not the efficiency naturally surpass that of the average individual with the same cerebral structure and development, but with less abundance of energy?

"I should greatly value your opinion on the subject."

We don't clearly understand the question, perhaps, but here's a sort of answer.

The brain depends for its work largely upon a good blood supply. A healthy young man is apt to have vitality enough for athletics, and a fairly good rank as a student besides.

But we are imperfect human beings and very few, if any of us, have enough vitality to do more than one thing well.

We have in our bodies just so much vitality AND NO MORE. We may develop all the vital power of which we are capable by living wisely, or we may develop only one-half of it by living foolishly.

Rest, wise diet, normal exercise, PLENTY OF FRESH AIR and mental activity are the essentials in the wise life that develops the body's vitality.

Having got your body in fine working order, with your heart, your lungs, your digestion and nerves working well, there is in you a capacity FOR JUST SO MUCH WORK AND NO MORE.

If you put all your power into your brain, your blood will GO to your brain and your vitality will be used up there.

If you put your power into your muscles, into your legs and arms, the blood and the power will go to the muscles, and your vitality will be used up in muscle.

A man cannot keep himself in the condition of a champion athlete and at the same time do his best mental work—that is impossible.

A man cannot possibly use his full mental powers constantly and at the same time preserve the muscular condition of a well-trained athlete.

You must be a worker MUSCULARLY, or a worker MENTALLY, or you must DIVIDE your power between muscle and mind. You can't give ALL to TWO separate lines of effort.

A certain amount of exercise is, of course, essential to health. Man needs as much exercise as will keep his lungs in good order, his heart strong, the pores of the skin open, his muscles and joints from stiffness. All physical work BEYOND that is taken from the brain and from the brain's working power.

Anything less than that is detrimental to the mind and to the entire career.

Joseph Chamberlain, the great English leader and politician, believed that he could do without exercise. "Walking upstairs once a day is plenty of exercise for me," said he some years ago. But to-day he is a total physical wreck, at an age when Gladstone was cutting down trees!

It is well for the fortunate being who can spare time to stop hard mental work occasionally for weeks or months at a time, and during that vacation to devote his vitality to muscular exercise, turning his mind out to rest.

It is useless for the man who uses up vitality mentally to try to make up for that BY USING UP POWER IN HIS MUSCLES.

Some men work hard all day, or all through the week, and exhaust themselves with violent exercise in the evening or on Sunday.

Nothing could be more foolish.

EXERCISE SHOULD ONLY BE TAKEN WITH YOUR SURPLUS VITALITY, ONLY WHEN YOU FEEL INCLINED TO IT. THE TIRED MAN SHOULD TAKE NO EXERCISES AT ALL, EXCEPT VERY QUIET WALKING, WITH DEEP BREATHING.

There is a partial answer to Mr. Bull's question.

Briefly, man is a living dynamo, with just so much energy. If he puts his power into muscle he can't put it into mind, and if he puts it into mind he can't put it into muscle.

But he can use up a little vitality for healthful, pleasant exercise and thus, keeping normal, have practically the full supply left for the important work.

A Plea for the Rights of Man

The Standard Oil Company, like some village Hampden, stands before the United States Supreme Court and asks to be delivered from the cruel judgment of the Eastern Missouri Circuit Court—on the plea of its simple suburban New Jersey citizenship.

This remarkable corporation, which has performed such prodigies and held the world in awe, now claims to be nothing but an obscure and private person of whom the world is unworthy.

The brief presented to the court rehearses all the wonderful deeds that the corporation has performed, and insists that they were done with a little hatchet and a bow and arrow.

The Standard Oil Company rests its case sublimely on the Statue of Liberty and the habeas corpus act.

Others may forget the heroisms of Revolutionary fathers, the Bill of Rights and the barricades against oppression, but this brave chartered child of New Jersey will not forget!

LETTERS FROM AMERICAN READERS

R. R. CRAFT IN LEMONS

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

I am told that someone in the recent tariff hill had the duty on lemons increased on the claim that the California growers could not compete with those imported. Very shortly after the passage of this fact the railroads raised the rate on lemons from California just the amount of the increased tariff rates; it seems to me an editorial on the capacity of the railroads as increasing the living expenses and also how the tariff fosters their infamous rates would be very much in order and I hope you will apply your virile pen to that end for a number of editorials.

C. H. UNVERZAGT.

SUGGESTION TO SUFFRAGETTES

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

If women ever vote it will be when they stop being theatrical and settle down to the serious business of fighting fire with fire. Why don't they form a central national organization and assess every woman in the country? They could then take the money at their command and do as the captains of industry do when they want anything. They don't stand on street corners and wave their arms and yell. Not on your life. They know a trick worth two of that. In this age it is the money power that rules. Therefore, I say to the women, fight fire with fire, only make it hotter than that the firemen play with. Then watch things move.

ROCKEFELLER'S GIFT AND THE WIDOW'S MITE

Written for the Boston American

By Dr. C. H. Parkhurst

Copyright, 1910, by American-Journal-Examiner

ANY man or woman is to be congratulated who has the ability to put so large an amount of money at the service of present and coming generations as Mr. Rockefeller, Mr. Carnegie and Mrs. Sage have done.

The permanent fruitfulness to the world of such bequests will be not simply a standing monument, but an expanding monument to the memory of the donors.

It must be, and is, a pleasant thought to any man to feel that, as a power for good, he is going to survive his own decease.

Both God and Man Helped Build His Fortune

One loves to believe that he is going to live in the other world; but it is a pleasure to him to be able to believe that when he shall be living there he will so far as the influence of his memory and his works is concerned, continue to be also living here—immortal there, but likewise immortal here.

These three princely benefactors afford a convenient text for some opposite thoughts upon benefactions, colossal and otherwise. If we were to cite the instance of the largest of these three donors, we should say in explanation of him that he has simply a genius for picking up and putting upon the market what God and man have placed within his reach.

God made the oil and Mr. Rockefeller's employes helped bale it out. And then, too, as to the genius that he displayed in collecting the oil and putting it on the market, that also was a gift that God helped him to; so that the reason he can be so great a benefactor is because he has been so colossal a beneficiary. Both God and man have helped him so tremendously that he could scarcely have avoided being a great accumulator.

So that in giving his money to the Church, he is only paying back what God helped him to; and in giving the rest of his money to human institutions he is only paying back what men helped him to. He is therefore paying his debts. His money really belongs to God and the men that have served him and whom he leaves behind.

It is a shrewd arrangement, death is, by which, if a man has not squared things with his Maker and his brother before he dies, he has to when he dies. That result is made certain by the impossibility of taking anything away with us when we go.

One cannot speak in too glowing terms of the effects, in the shape of benefit to the race, that are going to accrue from these immense sums of money placed at the disposal of human needs. A thousand years from now they may be yielding results that will be working out for man's physical, mental and moral betterment in ever widening circles of influence.

But even in the face of all that, we can never afford to forget that the finest eulogy anywhere pronounced in Scripture, upon gifts and givers, is what is said of the woman and her two mites. Her donation was exceedingly small, but, nevertheless, it was large enough to cost her a sacrifice and to draw upon her necessities and cut into her comforts; and that really is what has to be taken as measuring the personal denotement of one's offerings.

Size of Gift Signifies When It Becomes Sacrifice

Christ's blessing was not pronounced upon the widow's mites because they were so small, but because, under the circumstances of her poverty, it showed how immense was the spirit of glad self-denial by which their bestowal was prompted.

The size of our gifts really begins to signify when they commence to cut into our personal conveniences. This may not be the popular way of regarding such matters, but it is good Scripture, and without any doubt would carry with it the approval of each of the three phenomenal givers named above.

He Writes About Pa's Sons of Sorrow

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

WELL, wife, sed Pa, wen he calm home the other nite, as long as you have been bringing so many club wimmen to wure hoam & mine, I hoo thought that it wuldent be a bad idee for me to have a few club men now & them, so I have brought with me tonite the Sons of Sorrow. There are seven of us, as you see, sed Pa, and we also call ourself the Sad Seven. Every one of us is married to a club wooma, Pa sed, & that is why we are so sad. Get out your handkerchiefs, boys, sed Pa, & cry for the nice lady.

What kind of nonsense is this? sed Ma. Dount you ever have a serious moment? & such looking men, too, sed Ma, they look like a bunch of hard losers; that is, hard losers of everything except their self respect. You can leave me out, sed Ma, I am going back in the dining room & finish my dinner.

& dount we sit any of the dinner? sed Pa. Dount the Sons of Sorrow git a chanst to fuss with any food at all? Why, wife, we must have food. Yes, sed one of the Sad Seven, give us bread when we cum asking for it. Dount give us a stone.

I wood give you a stone quick enuff if I cud find one heavy enuff out in the yard, sed Ma. And you've a fine lot of quitters, aren't you? sed Ma. Sons of Sorrow, Rats, Ma sed. What has men got to be sorry about? Nothing. What does men ever have to do? Nothing. Them Pa dident stop, & his friends dident stop eether. They made so much noise that the nabors tried to git the janitor to cum up & stop it, but the janitor wasent game to taff. Hooray, they hollered, we was only fooling. Let's all sing a song & then sing sum more. Yip-a-ddy-i-yay!

Stop, stop, for heving sake, sed Ma, I like you all better wen you was sad. But the whole seven of you looks lest like the kind of loaks that is afraide to face the future.

So then all of Pa's friends & Pa started

Well, sed Ma, why dount you end it? The whole seven of you looks lest like the kind of loaks that is afraide to face the future.

So then all of Pa's friends & Pa started

Well, sed Ma, why dount you end it? The whole seven of you looks lest like the kind of loaks that is afraide to face the future.

Another Marvel of Light

By GARRETT P. SERVISS

A SHORT time ago I spoke of the wonderful manner in which, by taking light apart and utilizing certain radiations to the exclusion of others, man is learning how to supplement his senses, and thus getting deeper into the secrets of nature than his natural organs would ever enable him to penetrate. So new domains in astronomy are opened up.

But there is another aspect of this subject, which may involve even more important practical consequences.

In Victoria at present a most fascinating investigation is going on of the bactericidal or germ-destroying properties of the violet rays. These rays are so short that they make no impression on our sense of vision. They are like those shrill sounds which insects, perhaps, may hear, but which transcend the register of our ears. They are, nevertheless, instinct with strange power, which may be bent to the service of mankind.

They are like wands of infinitely minute javelins which penetrate the vitals of some of our microscopic enemies, and it only remains for us to discover the way to enlist these ethereal warriors on our side in the never-ending battle for life.

The particular form of the investigation of these rays now going on relates to their power to sterilize water and other liquids, such as milk. It has been found by the French experiments that ultra-violet rays passed through drinking water, or through milk containing typhoid bacteria, destroy its noxious qualities and make it fit and safe to drink.

They are more effective than ozone in this work, and it is not improbable that we shall soon have water filters operated by ultra-violet rays which will be better than any we now possess.

The application of the principle is very simple. It is only necessary to take a mercury vapor lamp, which gives out a great quantity of this kind of radiation and immerse it in the water to be sterilized.

Within a certain limited distance all the dangerous germs are slain by the little javelins. Their range of action, as just now is limited; still it is sufficient.

M. Victor Henri has found that, taking the polluted water of the River Seine, in five minutes the germs are destroyed up to a distance of two feet from an immersed Cooper-Hewitt lamp of 110 volts.

At a less distance the destruction is effected more rapidly, four seconds sufficing for the slaying of the germs at a distance of three inches. More than 1,200 quarts of water have thus been sterilized in an hour.

Milk and beer are more resistant to the passage of the rays, so that they have to be exposed in layers not more than an inch thick. But it is not difficult to treat these liquids in that manner by causing them to flow in thin streams.

It appears that some kinds of bacteria are more difficult to destroy by the rays than other kinds, but there seems to be none so stout that they do not ultimately succumb to these infinitesimal Maxim guns.
